GREEK FORCES ARE ORDERED TO ARMS

Greece Sticks to Balkan Allies and Declares War Against Turkey.

HEAVY FIGHTING REPORTED

Large Forces Engaged Near Adrianople—Balkan Ministers Leave Constantinople—Turkey Fears Greek Naval Forces

Athens, Oct. 18.—The foreign minister, at the sitting of the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon announced that Greece had declared war against Turkey. He added that up to the last moment Turkey had made all kinds of efforts and held out all sorts of promises to have Greece break away from the Balkan Confederation.

Premier Venizelos read to the deputies a message from King George, in which his majesty stated that the sufferings of their oppressed brethren had forced the Balkan States to recourse to arms. The premier also read a telegram from Crown Prince Constantine, reporting that the Greek army had entered Turkish territory.

When the Premier had concluded the minister of war announced the departure of the Greek fleet. He said it was the one great wish of the Greek sailors to see the Turkish fleet leave its moorings.

Amid cheering the president of the chamber asked the permission of the deputies to send greetings to the legislative chambers of the allies now that "cannon are roaring in the name of civilization and Christianity is at war against barbarism."

Pristina Reported Taken

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 18.—There was great rejoicing here today over an unconfirmed report that Servians had captured Pristina, a town of 15,000 inhabitants in the Vilayet of Kossovo, Turkey, but the only authentic information concerning the movements of the army received was that the Servians had entered Old Servia and were advancing in the direction of Uskup. It is doubtful, therefore, that they have yet reacher Pristina.

Heavy Fighting In Progress

Constantinople, Oct. 18.—Heavy fighting is reported to have been in progress throughout the day in the region about Kirk-Kilessoh, northwestward of Adrianople. Large forces were engaged on both sides.

The departure from Constantinople today of the Balkan ministers was not attended by any hostile demonstration. With the exception of a few windows being broken, no other disagreeable incident is reported. Thousands of Greeks and other prospective combatants of the Turks were permitted to depart to join their forces, but their leaving brought forth no unfriendly manifestation.

Doubt prevailed up to the last moment whether Greece finally would throw in her lot with her Balkan allies. It is an unquestionable fact that the Turkish government made serious efforts to have Greece withdraw her allegiance to the confederation. It seems probable, however, that Turkey was prompted chiefly by a desire to gain time in view of the superiority of the Greek fleet in the Aegean Sea. Turkey also, at the last moment, offered to send a new minister to Athens—one more acceptable than Mukhtar Bey—but this effort likewise proved futile.

Turkey Gets Some Concessions

Ouchy, Switzerland, Oct. 18.—The final draft of the treaty of peace between Turkey and Italy was signed at half past three o'clock this afternoon. Not only have Turkish susceptibilities carefully been safeguarded in the text, but the Ottoman plenipotentiaries have succeeded in obtaining from Italy concessions regarding capitulations (judicial jurisdiction over Moslems) and customs duties, as well as a disguised indemnity.

Upon these concessions Turkey depends greatly to offset the decree of the Sultan granting independence to Tripoli and Cyrenaica, without even a hint of recognizing the right of Italy to assume sovereignty over them.

The subjects of annexation and independence find no place in the treaty and the only hint in the whole document of Turkey practically, if indirectly, signing away possession of the great territory is found in the clause providing for the withdrawal of the Turkish troops and civil officials from Tripoli and Cyrenaica. Even this provision is similar to that requiring Italy at once to evacuate the Aegean island.

The fact that Italy has given the Sultan the right to appoint a representative with considerable power is not mentioned, but this has already been prepared for by the decree made public yesterday by the King of Italy.

Military News Censored

London, Oct. 18.—Turkey's endeavors to detach Greece from the confederations of Balkan States have failed. Greece declared war against the Ottoman Empire today, all the allied ministers left Constantinople and the allied States notified the powers that a state of war with Turkey exists.

Reports of fighting probably are in advance of the real facts. There has been for some time active censorship of military news. All reports of fighting, therefore, need to be received with a measure of caution, as it is not

CLAPP COMMITTEE GETS BIG LIST

Library of Congress

Copy of Treasurer's Accounts Show Contributions of $2,280,018.

SENSATION AT THE HEARING

Medill McCormick Presents Statement to Campaign Probers Calling Chas. D. Hilles Character Assassin and Liar.

Washington, Oct. 18.—For the first time since its investigation began the Senate campaign funds committee today obtained a copy of a list of contributors to the much disputed 1904 Republican campaign funds. Elmert Dover, who was secretary of the 1904 Republican committee, put the list in evidence, saying it had been copied from the private memorandum book of the late Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the committee. He told the investigators he believed that in many instances the list was inaccurate and ambiguous, owing to typographical errors. It totalled $2,280,018 and showed practically all of the contributions to the 1904 fund, which have been mentioned in the committee's investigation.

The list credited J. P. Morgan & Company with two contributions, one of $100,000 and one of $50,000. A contribution of $100,000 appeared on the list from "H. H. R." and "J. D. W." Mr. Dover told the committee he supposed the "H. H. R." stood for H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Company, and that the "J. D. W." was an error and should have been the initials of either John D. Archbold or John D. Rockefeller. E. H. Harriman was credited with $150,000 in two contributions. George W. Perkins appeared as giving $35,000 in two contributions and the following entries were on the list: "G. W. P., $25,000;" "G. W. P. $100,000"; and "G. W. P. committee $100,000." There was still another entry "D. G. P. Committee $100,000." The contributions of $25,000 each credited to "C. N. Bliss for P. R." were on this list. George J. Gould appeared as giving $100,000.

Contributions aggregating $230,000 appeared as follows: J. P. Morgan & Company (additional) $50,000; J. H. Hyde, $25,000; I. N. Eeligman, $5,000; C. N. Bliss, $5,000; James Stillman, $10,000; E. H. Harriman, $50,000; H. C. Frick, $50,000; D. O. Mills, $5,000; M. McK. Twombley, $10,000; G. W. Perkins, $10,000; Jacob H. Schiff, $5,000; I. N. Seligman $5,000. Several of these contributions have been mentioned before the committee as contributing to the so-called Harriman fund of about $240,000.

The committee was given a start when Medill McCormick, appearing as the first witness of the day presented a statement in the course of which he referred to "character assassins and liars like Mr. Hilles—men who, by their falsehoods incite weak-minded men to actual assassination."

Several members of the committee arose in violent protest against this language and it was finally expunged from the record. Mr. McCormick testified to contributing $18,000 to the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign in Illinois. The committee tried to get information as to the campaign contributions from Col. George Harvey, of Harper's Weekly. He said he knew absolutely nothing of funds collected, or of attempts to collect funds, or of offers of funds to the Wilson pre-convention campaign. A gruelling examination by Senator Oliver failed to shake this statement, or to elicit any statement regarding the Harvey-Wilson-Thomas F. Ryan incident.

TO DISCONTINUE SUIT.

Alabama Coal & Iron Co., Files Notice of Application.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 18.—The Alabama Consolidated Coal & Iron Company, a New Jersey corporation that was recently declared insolvent in the Alabama courts and that is now in the process of re-organization, today filed in the New Jersey Supreme Court notice of an application to have discontinued a suit by the attorney general attacking as unlawful an issue by the company of $3,500,000 of bonds to replace preferred stock. It is claimed the suit was instituted at the instance of third parties; that the suit has not been pressed since the filing of the original papers and that the pending suit interferes with the carrying out of the proposed reorganization.

WATCH THIS FADE AWAY

Wilmington decided to raise a $10,000 fund to help defray the expenses of the PEOPLE'S Candidate — WOODROW WILSON. The fund will soon be raised for we need ONLY:

Men		Each
2	to contribute	$250.00
6	to contribute	100.00
10	to contribute	50.00
24	to contribute	25.00
45	to contribute	10.00
11	to contribute	5.00
170	to contribute	2.50
647	to contribute	1.00

To the Good Women:

The good women of Wilmington are asked to contribute to the success of the Wilson Fund. This was decided upon by the Finance Committee for Wilmington, after careful consideration. The following reasons were set forth why the Ladies should take a part in this great effort to raise a $10,000 Fund to help defray the expenses of the PEOPLE'S Candidate and Wilmington's beloved former Townsman, Governor WOODROW WILSON:

First: History proves that no great movement has been successful without the support and influence of the WOMEN.

Second: They can invariably be trusted to align themselves to the cause of RIGHT and JUSTICE.

Third: Never in the history of this country have we faced a crisis in which "the hand that rocks the cradle" is so vitally interested.

WHY?—Because the HIGH COST OF LIVING is a stern reality to the Housewife.

Because she knows that the Family INCOME is not keeping pace with the advancing cost of FOOD and CLOTHING.

And Because she realizes that conditions must be changed before she may expect relief from the burdens that are oppressing her.

The "PROTECTED INTERESTS" are legally stealing her allowance by their indirect Tax imposed on the necessities by an unjust and unreasonable Tariff.

WILSON will relieve this situation. Therefore, the WOMEN are confidently asked to contribute to his election.

When $1,000 has been raised by a thousand or more WOMEN of WILMINGTON, this news will be flashed to Governor Wilson, and through the National Democratic Headquarters to the entire country. Contributions should be handed to any member of the Finance Committee, or to any of the following Chairmen:

L. W. MOORE
J. V. GRAINGER
JOS. W. LITTLE
L. D. LATTA
D. H. HOWES
H. E. BONITZ
GEORGE HONNET
J. W. SIMPSON
J. LAURENCE SPRUNT
C. C. LOUGHLIN
W. M. CUMMING

All contributions will be acknowledged through the local papers and promptly forwarded to the Democratic National Committee, New York.

W. A. McGIRT, Chairman.

WILSON DISCUSSES TARIFF

Democratic Nominee Outlines His Party's Position on Great Issue of The Campaign—Predicts Progressive Congress

Pittsburg, Oct. 18.—Wet weather campaigning brought Governor Woodrow Wilson a series of merry incidents today as he traveled through West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania. Only at Pittsburg tonight did he speak indoors, but throughout the day the Democratic nominee faced a fabric of umbrellas underneath which stood a multitude of enthusiastic people.

"I don't want to keep you standing in the rain," said the Governor, at Wheeling, as he began to abridge his speech.

"No, no, go on," urged the crowd."

"Perhaps I had better make my speech as dry as possible to counteract the effect of the rain," suggested the nominee.

The Governor found a big turn out everywhere, notwithstanding the drizzle of rain which he felt most of the day. He pleaded with the local committeemen not to insert any more speeches than were originally scheduled, but was only partly successful.

At Wheeling the nominee was loudly applauded when he said he would not discuss the third party while Colonel Roosevelt was in the hospital. The Governor was saying that there was a "corner of prosperity in the country," and that he had "a very definite notion as to how the whole population of the United States should have access to its own prosperity." He began to discuss the trusts and monopolies then, but stopped short. "I am a little bit hampered," he said, "in discussing this part of the question because I have denied myself the privilege at present of discussing anything that concerns the third party. "As long as Mr. Roosevelt is confined to the hospital in Chicago, I shall have nothing to say about the third party. But I want to say this about the Democratic party programme:

"The thing that has created the trusts, that has created the monopoly is unregulated, unfair competition. If we can only bring it about that all comers shall have a free field then we can take care of the gentlemen in the trusts, for then the most intelligent competitor will get the market and the little man can grow big, instead of making himself big by the legislation of Congress, and by special favors from the government. He can do that by having Federal laws thread all this system of ours with statutes which shall make it criminal to do what these gentlemen did to build up their monopolies, and which will see to it that the men who do commit offense have time to think it over in some building from which they will not for some time come out.

"I am not afraid that the penitentiaries will be crowded. Just as soon as the law takes hold of this thing and men are behind the law who want

TRIES TO TELL OF "FRAME UP"

"Jack" Sullivan Goes on Stand for Becker Defense to Tell of Conspiracy—Little of His Testimony Admitted.

New York, Oct. 18.—"Jack" Sullivan, "King of the Newsboys", indicted with the four gunmen for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, tried to unfold on the witness stand at today's session of Police Lieut. Becker's trial, his version of an alleged conspiracy by gamblers to kill Rosenthal and "frame up" Becker for the murder. Through him the defense planned to go far in proving its contention that Becker had nothing to do with the murder, but was himself the victim of a conspiracy.

But much of Sullivan's story was untold. That part which Justice Goff admitted was based upon testimony already given by Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps. Sullivan not only denied portions of their testimony, but declared that after the murder Webber and Rose told him they were go-

JACK JOHNSON IS ARRESTED

Charged With Abduction of Lucille Cameron, a White Girl—Federal Authorities May Take a Hand in the Case.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Lucille Cameron, the 19-year-old girl for whose alleged abduction Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, was arrested today, will be held under special guard in the Federal building here until Monday, when she is to go before the Federal grand jury, unless Johnson succeeds in getting her released on a writ of habeas corpus. In that event the girl will be taken into custody on a warrant for her detention until she can be examined for her sanity.

Johnson was arrested today on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. F. Cameron-Falconet, of Minneapolis, mother of the girl. United States Attorney Wilkerson ordered a thorough investigation, with a view to government prosecution of Johnson under the Mann Act prohibiting illegal transportation of women from one State to another.

Later in the afternoon the girl was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, the Federal authorities afterward placing her under bonds of $25,000. Before this bond was fixed the girl had refused to go home with her mother, and the mother, to hold the daughter in custody of the police until the investigation can be completed, swore to a warrant charging disorderly conduct.

Again, later, the mother went before Judge Owens, in the county court, and swore to a formal complaint that her daughter was insane. Judge Owens issued a commitment order for detention of the girl at the detention hospital, pending investigation as to her mental condition. It is this order which will not be enforced as long as Johnson's efforts to obtain the girl's release are unavailing.

GETS BIG DEMONSTRATION.

Continually Applauded Throughout His Speech of 45 Minutes.

Pittsburg, Oct. 18.—The wildest and most sustained demonstration that Governor Wilson has had in his campaign greeted him today at Duquesne Garden. When he rose to speak there were great cheers, but the applause was almost continuous throughout the speech of 45 minutes. The Governor's address was a series of short sentences and epigrams which the enthusiastic crowd constantly punctuated with applause. Once the crowd rose in the middle of the speech and began a demonstration that lasted for several minutes. The Governor talked mostly about the tariff and said that out of the "garden of tariff schedules" only the "weeds" would be eliminated, but that no legitimate enterprise would suffer

ROOSEVELT TALKS OF HIS SHOOTING

Colonel Relates Most Vivid Impressions of Attempt on His Life.

WELL ON WAY TO RECOVERY

Expets to Leave for Oyster Bay Monday and Resume Campaigning Week After Next—Feels "Lively as a Bull Dog."

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The vivid impressions of Col. Roosevelt when he was shot in Milwaukee, were related tonight from the colonel's own lips. Apporently well on the way to recovery, he was permitted to enjoy a greater degree of freedom and for the first time he gave an account of the happenings in the first few hours after the bullet found its mark. The colonel said that on Monday he expected to leave for Oyster Bay and hoped to be back in the campaign, making speeches again week after next.

"I feel as lively as a bull dog," said the colonel by way of preface. He was sitting in a huge leather chair by a window in Mrs. Roosevelt's room adjoining his own.

What seemed to impress Col. Roosevelt most strongly was not the shooting itself—he seemed to accept that as a thing of the past, to be dismissed once it was over—but rather his hour on the stage of the Milwaukee auditorium when he was speaking with a bullet in his side. But he insisted that to make the speech was only what any other man would have done under the circumstances.

"It was nothing—nothing", he said. "I felt a little pain, but it was not severe. When I stretched out my arm or reached for my manuscript it made me gasp a bit, but that was all.

"It was quite amusing," he went on, "when I reached for my manuscript to see that it had a hole in it from the bullet, and there was a hole in my spectacle case, too."

The colonel chuckled as he recalled the surprise he had felt at this discovery.

"Amusing did you say, colonel?" asked one of his hearers.

"Well," he qualified, "it was interesting."

Col. Roosevelt showed no indication that he had felt the fear of death. He said he had no means of knowing, as he made the speech he had promised to make, whether he was wounded fatally, but accepted, as a matter of course, that could go on until he had finished if his strength held out. But when it was all over and he had turned away to go to the hospital, he said, he found it difficult to keep his temper when half a dozen scrambled over the edge of the platform and asked him to shake hands.

"They wanted to shake hands, they said," though it still surprised him.

"Didn't they know that it is impossible for a man who has just been shot to shake hands with genuine cordiality?"

Of the shooting itself, Col. Roosevelt had little to say. Not once did he mention the name of John Schrank, his assailant. He talked in an unemotional way of being shot, as though he was discussing the case of a man with whom he was not acquainted. He said he bore no bitterness or rancor.

In a dispassionate way, Col. Roosevelt spoke of his present condition and speculated upon the chance that he would have blood poisoning or some other serious complication.

"Isn't it a curious thing?" he said, "that little spot?" He placed his thumb near the top with his forefinger to indicate how small a shot he meant, "can become infected and set the whole thing back?"

Then he said, there was the possibility, the physicians had told him, that pneumonia might develop.

The colonel said he felt no pain at present. He placed his right forefinger carefully on his breast to indiacte the position of the wound and said that while he salill had an occasional twinge to remind him of it, he was at ease.

As he talked he moved his arms freely, although he was careful not to move his body. He punctuated his remarks with gestures, but they were not the same vigorous gestures which he is wont to make.

The colonel still had trouble with his broken rib, he said. His only apparent worry was that the rib would not knit quickly enough to permit him to make a few speeches in the closing days of the campaign. "If I can get that rib knit so that the edges hold," he said, "and it doesn't pain me to take a deep breath, I hope to make some speeches week after next."

As his thought turned to the campaign Col. Roosevelt's manner changed. Although he had been cautioned not to forget that he was far from a well man and to guard against excitement, his face flushed and his gestures became more vigorous.

"They'll have to be short speeches at first, I suppose," he said, "but I'll make some good ones."

The colonel paused for a moment. He set his jaw hard and clenched his fists for the only time during the interview. "I ask no quarter," he said. "I' is amusing to see the predicament of Governor Marshall," he added with a laugh. "The Governor has been making his campaign on the assertion

AMOUNT CERTAIN DESPITE REPORTS

Committee of One Hundred Sees End of Wilson Fund in Sight

WOMEN TO BE INTERESTED

Appeal Issued by Central Committee to Ladies of Wilmington—Big Contributions Are Pending Just Now—Teams

"Faint heart never won a fair lady!"

Likewise, never resulted in the accomplishment of a great achievement.

This is the spirit with which it is hoped to imbue every member of the committee of one hundred for the solicitation of Wilson campaign funds in Wilmington and from now until November 2nd, it is proposed to see that everyone has an opportunity of doing his or her duty by the People's candidate for President in the most momentous campaign ever waged by the American people. Yesterday only a few of the committees again reported, but the General Committee has reasons to believe that several of them have "something up their sleeves" and are waiting for the psychological moment to spring it. It is known that several substantial contributions are in hand conditionally and that a number of those who have contributed already have given assurances of further support upon a second canvass. It is all needed and needed badly just now. There were no bidders yesterday for the lot in Mercer Place, but a number of people are interested and inquiries are being made. This lot is going to bring a good round sum for this most commendable purpose and Chairman W. A. McGirt would be glad to receive bids. This is an excellent opportunity for a good investment and at the same time to contribute something to a worthy cause.

The General Committee yesterday decided to call upon the good women of Wilmington to assist in this meritorious cause and elsewhere on the page is presented a very strong appeal to those of the gentler sex. It should be read and pondered by every thinking woman in Wilmington.

An enthusiastic team captain submits the following, which is good:

"Vim and Vigor means Victory to the workers for the Ten Thousand Dollar Wilson and Marshall Fund.

"Wilmington is the second city in the South. Vim and Vigor will make Wilmington the First City in the South.

"You can't fell trees without some chips,
You can't achieve without some slips;
Unless you try you'll wonder why
Good Fortune seems to pass you by.
Success is not for those who quail,
She gives her most to those who fail,
And then with courage twice as great
Take issue once again with Fate.
'Tis better far to risk a fall
Than not to make attempt at all.

"Wilmington will succeed in raising the Ten Thousand Dollars for the Wilson-Marshall Fund, but it will require all the Vim and Vigor of the Workers.

"Let every man do a little and SUCCESS is assured."

FOOTBALL THIS AFTERNOON

Wilmington High School Team and Rocky Mount Y. M. C. A. Eleven To Meet at League Park—Fine Game Expected

All is in readiness for the football game at League Park this afternoon between the Wilmington High School eleven and the Rocky Mount Y. M. C. A. teams. The visitors will be met at the union station by a delegation of students in automobiles. They are a husky bunch and come with the intention of worsting the "Scholastics." These teams met last year and played a fierce and gruelling contest in which neither side was able to score. The teams will be about the same weight, the High School having the heaviest team in two seasons.

Football enthusiasts will be given an opportunity of witnessing the new rules put into effect, the most important being the change of downs from 3 to 4. This will increase the interest from the spectator's standpoint as it will cause more scoring. Numerous tickets have been sold for the game and prospects are for a record-breaking crowd for a football game in Wilmington. The field will be wired in to keep the spectators from overrunning the gridiron and policemen have also been provided to aid in this respect.

The High School boys are in the pink of condition and are full of confidence in their ability to pile up a score against the Railroaders. Thursday afternoon the hardest scrimmage of the season was indulged in between the 'Varsity and the scrubs. Yesterday the team went through light signal practice and put on the final touches for the game.

The Wilmington line-up will probably be as follows: Ex-Capt. "Bob" Burnett, all-State football for two years, will hold down the center of hostilities in the backfield; "Fleet" Hashagen or "Capt." Burnett will appear at left halfback; either of these men willbe a tower of strength. "Harvey" Williams at right halfback, is fast and heady, while "Ditty" Hall will "general" the eleven with success from the center back position; "Big Six" Penny or "Dutch" Merriman will attend to the center of the line, while "Happy" Micks will support him "a la stone-wall" on the right with "Lengthy" Johnson, who is a new man that is showing up well, on the left. At right tackle, "Doc" Thames or Capt. Burnett will be on the job. "Rat" Herring, of last year's team, will "make 'em hustle" in left tackle. "Bill" Monroe will appear in his "stellar role" of right end, while at left end "Israel" Silverman or "Red" Murray Grant will get all coming their way. With this line up the High School expects to win.

The Tidewater Power Co., will maintain a convenient schedule to and from the park.

WHITE SOX WIN SERIES

Slaughter Cubs In Deciding Game by Score of 16 to 0

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Chicago's National League team was smothered in the final game of the city championship series today, Comiskey's American League players winning 16 to 0. The Sox won the series by tying the first two games, losing the next three and then winning four in a row.

Today's slaughter so disgusted Manager Frank Chance that after the fifth inning he went to the club house with the four pitchers who had been knocked out of the box and four substitutes, donned his street clothes and went home.

BIG GAME TODAY

Vanderbilt and Georgia Elevens Meet At Atlanta Today

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—Eighteen members of the Vanderbilt University's football squad, headed by Coach Dan McGugin, arrived here today and will meet the University of Georgia eleven in their annual game at Ponce de Leon Park tomorrow. The Tennesseans held secret practice at the park this afternoon. Joe Covington, Vanderbilt's big tackle, is on the injured list, and his place may be taken by Cleveland Shipp, a former Mooney player. The officials of the game will be Charles Wahoo, referee; Ted Coy, umpire, and Innis Brown, head linesman.

MARSHALL ATTACKS T. R.

Denounces Colonel's Action in Tennessee Coal & Iron Co., Case.

Grand Island, Neb., Oct. 18.—Governor Marshall, who stopped here this afternoon on his 7,000 mile speaking trip to the Pacific coast, was applauded when he attacked Col. Roosevelt's action in the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company case, declaring that J. P. Morgan threw a fit into President Roosevelt, and thereupon President Roosevelt violated his oath of office as chief executive.

He also attacked Republican tariff theories at a big open air meeting. He tossed a large piece of English suiting goods into the crowd and with the figures of a New York importer as a basis for the argument, declared that such material could be bought in Nebraska for less than one-half the present price, if the tariff was reduced.

Saved By His Wife

She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. A quick cure for coughs and colds, it's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsilitis, hemorrhages. BASKETBALL LAST NIGHT

Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Witnessed Opening Game of Friday Night League at Boys' Brigade Armory.

One of the largest crowds ever assembled in the Boys' Brigade gymnasium to witness a basketball game was present last night for the opening games in the Friday Night League and they were treated to all varieties of the game, from the best to the worst and from the most gentle to the roughest, though all was in a good spirit and no injuries were received. Players and spectators alike thoroughly enjoyed the games.

In the first game, between the Y. M. C. A. Juniors and Company A, the Juniors won by a score of 31 to 18, this result being obtained through the superior team work and better condition of the Jnniors. The passing and goal throwing of Farrar were the features of this game, though Company A did some good work in every department, only lacking team work to make them formidable opponents of any team in the league. In this game the Juniors threw 12 field goals and six fouls and were awarded one point by the referee. Company A threw eight field goals and two fouls.

In the second game, between the Y. M. C. A. Seniors and Company B, the latter were the winners by a score of 22 to 14. The weight of the Seniors proved a handicap against Company B, but their superior team work and speed and clean playing overcame this and they won by eight points. This game was characterized by much undue roughness on the part of the Seniors for which many fouls had to be called by the referee and resulted in materially helping Company B to win on fouls, though if this tactic had not been resorted to by the Seniors it is probable that Company B would have scored more field goals and have won by a larger margin. However, the Seniors will soon get down to playing form and much of the roughness of which they are now guilty will, probably not be in evidence when they will become much more formidable as opponents.

That clean playing is superior to the other kind was clearly demonstrated in these first two games, for the Juniors and Company B play clean, fast ball, making few fouls and the result was victory in each case over their larger and rougher opponents. In this game the Seniors scored four field goals and three foul goals and were awarded one point, while Company B scored six field goals and 10 foul goals.

The third game between the Cardinals and the Eagles was a walk-over for the former, they winning by the large score of 46 to 16. The feature of this game was the goal throwing of Clarence Davis, who threw 12 field goals. The Eagles will soon add some new players to their team, who will greatly strengthen them and they will then be able to give a better account of themselves. The Cardinals threw 21 field goals and three foul goals, while their opponents threw seven field goals and two foul goals.

In Company C League the team of Register defeated that of Fergus by a score of 22 to 10, while the team of Palmgren won over Montgomery by the score of 8 to 12.

All the teams will now go into regular training and practice and each will soon be able to give a better account of itself so that some real "classy" games are in store for the lovers of this form of sport.

KID WILLIAMS WINS

Baltimore Boy Outpoints Johnny Coulon In 10-Round Bout

New York, Oct. 18.—Kid Williams, of Baltimore, outpointed Johnny Coulon, of Chicago, the bantamweight title holder, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Coulon had to lower his colors at he end of the tenth round, but Williams knew he had met a past master of the art during every second.

On leads, Williams had the better of the first round, but in the second Coulon ripped a right uppercut over the heart, hooked two lefts to the body and sent his right hard over on the jaw.

Williams had the better of the third, forcing the fighting throughout, winding up with a hard right to the body. Coulon had the fourth round, with rights and lefts to the face.

The pace was very fast in the next two rounds, Williams having the better of the fifth and a shade in the sixth.

Fighting was fast all through the next two rounds and there were several rapid exchanges, Coulon's work with both hands to the head being the better.

The ninth was a shade in favor of Coulon, but in the 10th the Baltimore lad forced matters at a terrific pace, sending rights and lefts to the jaw, rushing Coulon all the time and boring in with rights and lefts to the head and body. It was a hurricane fight in which Williams proved the champion's master in every stage. The boys weighed in according to agreement under 116 pounds ringside, Williams turning the scales at 115 1-2 pounds and Coulon four pounds less.

SENATOR WORKS FOR WILSON

Asks All Progressive Republicans to Vote for Democratic Nominee—Gives His Reasons for His Stand—In California.

Washington, Oct. 14.—United States Senator John D. Works, of California, today issued a signed statement charging the Progressive Third Party movement in California with gross fraud and asking all Progressive Republicans to vote for Governor Wilson for President. He also pointed out the impossibility of the Republicans carrying California for Taft because of the manner in which the Bull Moose leaders of that State fraudulently entered and captured the Republican primaries, and he advised all Republicans in California and in other States where Taft electors are not on the Republican ballot, to vote for Wilson.

Senator Works outlined the manner in which the Roosevelt men, not entitled to a place on the ballot at the primary election, caused their candidates and voters to swear that they were Republicans in order to enter the Republican primary to nominate for office on the Republican ticket men who were not Republicans, but members of the third party.

The statement pointed out that these persons, by means of false affidavits, obtained control of the Republican State central committee of California and permitted Third party men to act in a Republican convention under the laws of California to place Roosevelt electors on the Republican ticket.

"The new party" said Senator Works' statement, "is completely organized with all the necessary political machinery, and some of the men who are acting as members of the Republican committees in California are also members of working committees of the new party.

"No kind of sophistry, or evasion can conceal the fact that this whole proceeding is fraudulent.

"The right and honorable thing for them to have done was to place their candidates on the ticket as Progressives, by petition, so that every voter could vote intelligently for whom he pleased, knowing whether he was voting for a Republican or a Progressive.

"They were not willing to come out fairly and boldly, as Progressives. To do that they would lose the votes of Progressive Republicans who did not believe in the new party and would have to surrender the power and prestige of the Republican party, which as Progressive Republicans, was within their control.

"The whole thing has been a contemptible deception and fraud. Much of it has been more than that. It has been a series of crimes. The candidates who ran on the Republican ticket, but who were Progressives, were fraudulently nominated and are entitled to no consideration at the hands of people who believe in honest politics.

"It results that the Progressives, who are crying out, 'Thou shalt not steal,' have by a systematic course of fraud, corruption and perjury, stolen the right of the Republican party to a place on the ballot and deprived thousands of voters of the right to vote for the candidate of their choice within their own party.

"Then what are real Progressive Republicans to do? They cannot consistently support Taft for two reasons. He was not fairly and honestly nominated and he does not represent progressive principles, or the sentiments of the masses of the people of the country. He is a reactionary himself, honestly, I believe, and with good intentions, but worse than that he is advised and largely governed and controlled by the worst class of trust magnates, reactionaries of the privilege-seeking class, and corrupt political manipulators and bosses in the country.

"Roosevelt is equally impossible. He is too new a convert to progressive principles to trust with the leadership of a new party if its object is to advance and maintain those principles. He has never until now stood openly for progressive principles.

"He is all things to all men to get votes. He has suddenly become an advocate of woman suffrage because so many of them are now voters and have become so without his help. He never was before.

"His party is not founded on principle but upon malice, revenge and disappointed ambition. If he had been nominated by the Republican convention, the Republican party would have been good enough for him and he would have accepted and welcomed the support of the men in the party that he now denounces so viciously.

"His new party is being managed in part and supported by as bad trust promoters and corrupt political bosses as those he accuses, and if elected it will not be by Progressives' votes, but by the help of those who care nothing for progressive principles.

"The means by which he has secured the votes of Progressive Republicans in some of the States, notably in California and Kansas, has been fraudulent and dishonest.

"Any Progressive Republican in California who gives him his support with knowledge of the facts, and all intelligent voters must know the facts by now, makes himself a willing party to their fraudulent proceedings. No man or woman who is conscientious, and believes in honesty in politics, can support any candidate who secures his nomination by the means I have pointed out above.

"Wilson is a real and sincere Progressive. He has proved it by his course and conduct as a public officer and as a candidate. He is running on a sane progressive platform.

"Nothing of benefit to progressive principles or honest politics can be gained by voting for either Taft or Roosevelt. The best services Progressive Republicans can render to their party, and to their country, under these unfortunate circumstances, is to vote for Wilson. It will help to teach dishonest manipulators of politics a wholesome lesson.

"The regular Republicans, so called, will take the same course if they are wise. Taft cannot carry California. Therefore a vote for him is a vote for Roosevelt and the destruction of the Republican party in the State.

"With the new party scheme defeated the Republican party can be reunited as a progressive party, as it was before some of its members were led away from it into a sham Progressive party, by men who assumed to be its leaders, and who care more for political success than for the honor of any party.

"All good people in California should unite in the effort to rebuke the men who have resorted to this scheme of dishonest politics and to defeat every candidate who has received his nomination by such means, be the office for which he is a candidate high or low. This is a time to test the sincerity of people who profess to believe in honesty in politics."

NEEDED INTERPRETER

Joseph Caruso Unable to Speak English at Lopizzo Trial

Salem, Mass., Oct. 18.—Joseph Caruso, one of the defendants, charged with the murder of Anna Lopizzo at Lawrence, during the textile strike, who is on trial here with Joseph J. Ettor and Arthuro Giovannitti, sat in the prisoner's cage today with an interpreter by his side, while Lawrence police officials testified they frequently had conversed with him in English and that the defendant had understood them without difficulty.

"When I asked Caruso where he was on January 29th, the day of the riot in which Anna Lopizzo was killed," said Police Inspector Voz, "he said he was in a pool room, near the place, when a man ran in shouting, 'they are killing all the Italians in Union street.' He said he rushed out of the pool room with others and then ran away because he did not want to get into trouble. He said one man rushed into the crowd with a club and another with a cleaver."

Bernard Ford, a Boston newspaper man who met Ettor during the Lawrence strike, described events and riots on January 29th in the mill city and declared that Ettor told him on that day that the authorities "could send the whole Federal army" to Lawrence and the strike would yet be won. "We will win if they erect a gallows on every street corner," were the words attributed to Ettor by Ford.

Court adjourned this afternoon until Monday.

"FAGGED-OUT" WOMEN.

Will Find a Helpful Suggestion in This Letter.

Overworked, run down "fagged out" women who feel as though they could hardly drag about, should profit by Miss Richter's experience. She says: "Last Winter I was completely run down and felt fagged out all the time, was nervous and had indigestion.

"One of my friends advised me to take Vinol and it has done me great good. The tired, worn-out feeling is all gone and I am strong, vigorous and well. The stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have perfect digestion. I wish every tired, weak, nervous woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol." Marie Richter, Detroit, Mich.

Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strength-creating effects of Vinol. We guarantee Vinol to build you up and make you strong. If it does not we give back your money. Robt. R. Bellamy, Wilmington, N. C.

FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Allison M. McFarland Would Marry Woman In the Case

Newark, N. J., Oct. 18.—Immediately after he was freed after a second trial from charges that he murdered his wife, Allison M. McFarland attempted late today to marry Florence Bromley, the Philadelphia woman who had figured in his case as author of affectionate letters to him signed "Bunny." McFarland's plans were upset by a mere technicality. The couple will be married later.

The verdict of "not guilty" after he had once been convicted overjoyed McFarland and the Bromley woman. They left the court room in high spirits by cheering crowds and drove to the marriage license bureau at City Hall. When the would-be bride described herself as 24 years old and a divorcee, the clerk refused to issue a license because she could not produce her divorce decree.

The woman said her husband, John A. Dawe, Jr., who obtained a divorce from her in New Jersey for desertion, had never given her a copy of the decree, but she proposed to obtain one and carry out the marriage.

THE NORTH CAROLINA SYNOD

Yesterday's Sessions at Goldsboro Full of Interesting Features—Reports From Various Departments of Work—Missions.

(By Mamie Bays.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 18.—Synod convened this morning at 9 o'clock and Rev. J. K. Hall, of Lillington, conducted the devotional exercises. Rev. W. McC. White, D. D., the moderator, took the chair at the close of the devotional service and the minutes of the sessions of yesterday were read, corrected and approved.

An invitation was read to Synod by Rev. V. G. Smith, pastor of the church, requesting that Synod visit the Odd Fellows' Home in Goldsboro. On motion it was decided that a committee of ten be appointed by the moderator to represent Synod in making this visit, the pressure of work to be transacted during the remainder of the session being too great to allow all the delegates to go.

A letter from Durham was read extending an invitation to Synod to attend the convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement to be held in that city October 31st and November 1st, at which time a number of leaders of the movement will be present and address the convention.

Rev. Byron Clark, D. D., of Salisbury, extended an invitation to the Synod to attend a similar convention in Salisbury December 4th and 5th.

Rev. A. R. Shaw, D. D., requested the consideration of the report of the standing committee on the Orphans' Home be made the special order to follow the memorial service this morning and this request was granted.

The report on Systematic Beneficence was submitted and adopted. During the past year 3,567 have been added to the church, 1,949 on examination and 1,618 on certificate, and in the Synod there are 475 churches, but still 15 counties in North Carolina have not a Presbyterian church within their bounds. This report showed the average salaries of pastor in the Synod $1,001.

Rev. L. W. Curtis read the report on Young People's Societies, showing that in the Synod there are at present 3,651 of these societies.

The moderator appointed a committee of five ministers and five elders to visit the Odd Fellows' Home; also a committee on Assembly's blanks, consisting of the stated clerks of the Presbyteries.

J. P. McAuley, of Chattanooga, chairman of the "Million and a Half Campaign", addressed the Synod in the interest of that work in which the entire Southern Presbyterian Church is to be engaged. Dr. McAuley said that no Synod in the church had shown more interest in every evangelistic movement of the church. He said further that this campaign was born in prayer and that, above all else, he desired that it be understood that in this special effort the church is not putting money first, but that in every conference to be held and in every educational movement inaugurated, evangelism will occupy the first and most important place. Presbyterian conference in the interest of the campaign, he said, have been arranged already in all but one of the Presbyteries of the Synod of North Carolina and in that exception the every member canvass is already adopted in every church in the Presbytery. He said also that arrangement has been made to hold 90 Presbyterian conferences in the church in the interest of the campaign, before the 1st of March, 1913. The first of these conferences are to be held next week, one in Gastonia, N. C., and the other in Louisville, Ky. The "Million and a Half Campaign" was inaugurated by the General Assembly of the church during its meeting held this year in Bristol. The object of the campaign first of all is to secure a spiritual awakening throughout the entire church and a large ingathering of members on confession. Additional to this object of the campaign is the raising of one million dollars for home and foreign missions during 1913-1914 and $500,000 for the permanent equipment of the work of the church, the latter amount to be paid within the next three years.

A simultaneous campaign will be conducted throughout the church in March next and in that month special effort will be made to secure the million and a half dollars. No money will be asked for in the Presbyterial conferences to be held between now and March, but these conferences will be educational and inspirational and will lead up to the campaign. Some member of the campaign committee will attend all of these conferences and take part on the programme. Each conference will include two evenings and one day. The session during the day will be largely in the nature of conference of workers and during the evenings addresses will be delivered. Special effort will be made to secure a large attendance of men, women and children at these conferences, as the campaign applies to the entire membership. It is the hope of the campaign committee that those who attend the conferences will return to their homes quickened by a desire to become more active in evangelistic effort and to contribute more liberally to the claim of the church and to influence others to do the same.

The next special order of Synod was the annual communion service, which was conducted by Rev. H. G. Hill, D. D., of Maxton, and Rev. W. D. Morton, D. D., of Rocky Mount, two of the older and most honored ministers in the Synod.

The following named ruling elders distributed the elements: Geo. W. Watts, of Durham; Robert A. Dunn, of Charlotte; L. H. Caxter, of Goldsboro; and J. W. McLauchlin, of Raeford. This service was followed by the memorial service. During the past year six members of Synod passed away and memorials were read as follows at this time; Rev. P. R. Law, D. D., by Rev. A. W. Crawford; Rev. W. W. Pharr, D. D., by Rev. R. W. Culbertson; Rev. Cornelius Miller, by Rev. Dougald Munroe; Rev. J. J. Kennedy, by Rev. G. A. Sparrow; Rev. J. B. Cochran, by Rev. J. K. Hall. No memorial of Rev. R. E. Steele was read, but announcement was made that one would be published in the minutes of Synod.

During the interim between the communion service and the memorial service Synod's quartette rendered a song. The quartette consists of Rev. J. E. Berryhill, Rev. W. M. Walsh, Rev. J. L. Yandell and Rev. J. G. Garth.

The report of the standing committee on the report of the Board of Regents of the Orphans' Home was read by Rev. A. R. Shaw, D. D., and was adopted. Rev. J. E. Dickenson, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of Goldsboro, was introduced and spoke briefly to Synod.

The afternoon session was occupied largely with consideration of the reports of standing committees.

The report of the committee on the Sabbath and Family Religion was considered at length, and the recommendations were strong in favor of closer observance of the Sabbath and family religion. During the discussion reference was made to the recent laws enacted regarding Sunday mail, and the hope was expressed that these laws will not be rescinded.

Speaking in this connection Rev. A. R. Shaw, of Charlotte, said that whenever the Sabbath and other sacred institutions are attacked through the press, ministers should have the hardihood to meet the attack through the press.

Rev. George Crabtree, prison evangelist, addressed Synod in the interest of his work.

A collection was taken to supplement the salary of the two colored ministers, now advanced in years, who are members of Synod.

The following words taken from the annual report of Rev. M. C. G. Shields, superintendent of Synodical Home Missions, which he read to Synod this evening, during the popular meeting held in the interest of Synodical Home Missions, expresses clearly and concisely what has been accomplished for this cause since the last meeting of Synod.

The meeting of Synod last year was held the second week in November, hence the past Synodical year has included only 11 months. In his report, Mr. Shields said: "Our workers have organized three churches, seven Sabbath schools, witnessed 1,678 professions of faith, welcomed 861 members into the Presbyterian church, and $10,262.42 has been received and disbursed by your committee for Synodical Home Missions. The workers have all been paid, and the balance of $1,000 reported to the last Synod as still due on note in bank, has been met in full, and this work is now without a debt or a discord. It appears that there are in all the Presbyteries 76 mission fields, in which there are 217 organized churches and 92 mission points. Of these fields 65 are supplied with preaching and 11 are vacant. During the year 10 new churches and 46 Sabbath schools were organized. On these fields, 1,181 persons gave their hearts to Christ, and 1,093 members were added to the Presbyterian church. To pastoral support these mission fields gave $25,346, for other purposes, $14,843 making total of funds contributed by these struggling fields for all causes, $40,189. The Presbyteries have given $23,208 to sustain these fields, and individual churches gave $21,610 for mission work within the bounds of the congregations. Adding to this, the mission work done by the Synod in the Presbytery and not included in the above, we have as a total result of the combined efforts of the Presbyteries and the Synod about 2,000 professions of faith, 1,200 additions to the church, and $55,080 expended on Home Mission work, within the bounds of the Synod."

It was during the session of Synod held in Goldsboro in 1888 that Synodical Home Missions was organized, as a distinct phase of the work of the Synod. Rev. W. E. McIlwaine was largely instrumental in organizing this work and he was one of the speakers this evening. Other speakers were, Rev. L. S. Hemphill, Rev. E. L. Siler and Rev. W. D. Morton, each of whom spoke of the needs of Home Mission fields in eastern and western North Carolina.

Rev. A. J. McKelway, addressed Synod in the interest of work in the mill communities. He said that Presbyterianism was accomplishing but little in these communities, and that it was due the church to know why this is, and if labor conditions are such as to prevent greater progress of the church, then, the church should protest against them.

Rev. D. H. Rolston read the report on Assembly's Home Missions. This report recommended that Synod contribute $30,323 to Assembly's Home Missions the coming year.

NO GROUND FOR PROTEST.

Democratic Nominees Included in Florida Ballots.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 16.—The names of all Democratic nominees were included in the ballots made up by county commissioners throughout the State today, in accordance with the advice of Attorney General Park Trammell. Mr. Trammell holds there was no ground for the protest filed by the Progressive party of the State. The actual printing of the ballots, however, cannot be done until the Supreme Court decides on the legality of placing thereon the constitutional amendment providing for the referendum and recall.

To guard against any uncertainty, the names of the Democratic nominees also will be certified to the Secretary of State by petition, the petitions already having been signed by the requisite number of voters.

NEW FREIGHT RATES.

Crushed Stone and Fertilizer Receive Attention of Commission.

(Special to The Observer.)

Washington, Oct. 17.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission today granted to the Southern Railway permission to establish rates on crushed stone in carload lots from Lancaster, S. C., to points in North Carolina and adjacent States without observing the long and short haul provision of the inter-State commerce law.

The commission also granted to the Southern permission to establish through rates on fertilizer in carload lots from Greensboro to points in South Carolina equal to concurrent rates in effect from Danville, Va., to these points.

Saves Leg of Boy

"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

STATE BANKS ARE PROSPEROUS

Gain Over Four Millions in Resources. Insurance in North Carolina—Bank of McDonalds Chartered—State Fair.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18.—A gain of $4,352,981 in the resources of the State banking interests, not including the National banking interests, is shown in the summary of the condition of reports of State banks by the Corporation Commission as of September 4th, as compared with condition September 1st, 1911.

The number of these banks has increased from 355 to 366 during the year. The deposits subject to check have increased from $24,235,705 to $29,362,189; the savings deposits have grown from $8,931,330 to $11,037,564. The increases in the various classes of deposits for the year have been $5,129,483 for deposits subject to check $2,106,233 for savings deposits; $1,455,367 for time certificates of deposit. The capital stock of $10,104,316 against $751,754.

Insurance Commissioner Young has gone to Atlanta where he delivered today an address before the National Association of Local Insurance Agents. He discussed comprehensively the duties of the agents to the State whose license he holds and whose laws and regulations he must observe; his duty to his company, his duty to his customers and his duty to his associates and fellow workers. Mr. Young, speaking of the conditions in North Carolina declared to the National convention that the North Carolina insurance laws are looked upon as superior and as both helpful to agents and careful of the interests of the public. The home companies, he said, are well managed and doing well in the enjoyment of their share of the business; and the conditions compare favorably with those suggested by the Merritt Committee of New York and the Illinois committee. In fact, he declared, it is worthy of note how well the North Carolina laws are up to even the recommendations of the New York investigating committee.

The Neuse Transportation & Street Railway Co., of Newbern, was chartered today with $100,000 capital authorized and $300 subscribed by Clyde Eby, C. L. Ives and A. T. Dill, for the operation of transportation lines by boat, automobile, street railway and otherwise.

Another charter is for the Bank of McDonlads, Robeson county, capital $25,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by L. R. Hamer, J. L. Townsend, and others.

There is also a charter for the Richmond Hardware Co., of Ellerbe, Richmond county, capital $20,000 by Joy C. Nance and others.

This was the last day of the State Fair with an attendance of 15,000 compared with 20,000 Tuesday, 25,000 Wednesday, and 35,000 Thursday. The crowds, of course, are the real success of the fair, but the thousands of people paid high tribute to the exhibits and general features of the fair. Prominent citizens from all parts of the State expressed special gratification at the extent and quality of the agricultural exhibits, to the success of which the State Department of Agriculture and other agricultural forces directed much energy and expense.

Who put the Ted in busted?

A lot of people still mistake license for liberty.

Not that Taft loves golf more but that he loves flesh less.

Money talks and even hush money gets in its work by speaking easy.

Some men who get in the public eye succeed at it by blinding the public.

Tristam Speaker is the name of a Texan, but a twistem speaker is a South Carolina politician.

A woman is only as old as she pretends to be. A woman who wants to be young and acts young is young.

From the beginning we have never expected the wound of Colonel Roosevelt to have any grave consequences.

The "plain people" are those who think a politician is their friend because he makes an appeal for their votes.

We believe that the Colonel will come out of it all right if the doctors will give him half a chance.—Durham Herald.

A St. Louis doctor says you can live a hundred years if you resolve to do so. Yes, but who wants to be "old and only in the way?"

A court has ruled that a man's wife is worth $40 a month, but owing to the high cost of living she generally gets 30 cents on account.

A reactionary is a man who talks progressivity while his wife is at home waiting for him to turn up with a couple of pounds of steak.

An Indian rode fifty miles to pay a $5 debt. The difference between a red man and a white man is that the white man will let the other fellow do the riding.

For nearly a week the campaign has had on its Sunday clothes, but the Colonel is getting well of his wound and expects to resume hositilities within the next few days.

Colonel Roosevelt said his wound would give him a rest. President Taft has not said so, but the Colonel's wound also means the same amount of rest for the President. You know the rest.

The Boston Red Sox each got $4,000 out of the world series. Nobody can blame Joe Wood for deciding to get married while the team is able to make him a wedding present and a Christmas gift.

Some fellow has reported that he toured Europe the past Summer at an expense of $69. Probably so, but if he did he had to cut out $531 of gaiety and frivolity while meandering through Paris.

If Cleveland was responsible for the panic in 1898, Roosevelt was responsible for the more disastrous panic which lasted from 1907 to 1910. If Roosevelt was not responsible for the Roosevelt panic who is?

Anyhow, Boston is on the map again. Boston, it should be stated, is in the vicinity of the Bunker Hill monument. Boston lacks only a few miles of being outside the United States, but the Red Sox identify it as an American town.

Republicans predict that Wilson will do nothing with the tariff, and yet they claim that he ought to be defeated because he wants to destroy the tariff. The Republicans are so scared they argue two ways to fool the people.

POLITICS AND PRICES

Republican contemporaries and stump speakers are telling the farmers that if a Democratic President is elected, their products will fall in price. However, what worries us farmers most right now is the high cost of production which eats up the price. We know that the Republican party makes farming expensive, and we also know that the law of supply and demand regulates the price we get for what we produce.

During Republican administrations we farmers have seen the price of cotton go all to pieces and actually fall below the cost of production. Last year under a benign Republican administration the price of strawberries "just about ruint" us, and lots of us got a stamp or two back for some of our shipments. Lots of us got remittances that would not pay for the picking, much less the cost of production. Many were hit so hard by the slump in the New York market that they ploughed up their berries to plant something else that the Republican crop god might favor more than he did strawberries.

Owing to President Taft's present troubles we farmers are not going to saddle on him the blame for the low price of strawberries. It would be too cruel to do that, even for the sake of peanut politics, but, as a matter of fact, those of us farmers who have brains enough to make a frying noise in a skillet are perfectly aware that President Taft did not cause the New York berry market to go to pieces. He neither controlled the demand there nor the amount of production here. While the President is worrying about the coming of the 5th of November, it would be too mean as well as too idiotic to blame him for holding back the ripening of our crop so those Norfolk growers could join us in glutting the market.

Democrats cannot fool us farmers and we are certain Republicans will never be able to do it with their ten-year-old boy talk about prices being either fixed or guaranteed by any Republican or Democratic administration. We farmers who have gray matter enough to stuff a Brunswick county gnat have learned that production, judicious distribution, the smallness or greatness of demand, overproduction or short crops, the ability of consumers to buy, and the conditions of the markets here and in Europe, either favorably or unfavorably affect the prices of American farm products. For that reason we have caught on to the fact that our 16,138,426-bale crop of cotton in 1911 brought $107,074,825 less money for the farmers than our 12,120,095-bale crop of 1910. We can thump ourselves on the noggin and figure it out that we simply produced more cotton than American and European spinners could utilize at the price for 1910 cotton. Our big crop was the good fortune of the cotton manufacturers. Our normal crop was our good fortune.

Cotton farmers have found out that all the cotton factories in this country take about one-third of their cotton crop, and that their European customers take the other two-thirds. They have found out that the people who take the one-third do not fix the price for those who use twice as much cotton as they do. The presumption is that the customers who take the bulk of the crop pay the price that conditions in Europe and their world markets warrant, without any regard to American politics.

Thoughtful, observant farmers have learned that when the American crop is short and the foreign spinners become alarmed over the possibility of not getting enough cotton to supply their demands, they come into the market and pay good prices. Consequently the spot market here is bound to respond to that abroad, so we see the cotton farmers have very strong competition for the great staple, and so long as they do not overproduce they can rest assured of good prices whether Taft is re-elected or whether Wilson carries the country, or whether the Diazistas succeed in thrusting a third term upon the Bull Moose. It matters not who is elected, it would have no more effect upon the price of farm products than that the high price of beef has come about because the kids believe the cow jumped over the moon. When, however, the beef packers convince us that whole droves of cows have jumped over the moon and failed to come back, we will know that the cow crop is short and that only the impudent, the haughty and the "insolent rich" can continue to eat choice beef.

The stale story that Grover Cleveland and the Democrats brought on a panic and caused the low price of cotton then prevailing is still being circulated by two-by-four Republican economists, punky campaign spielers and peanut politicians of the Bull Moose variety. Those who know that Cleveland had no more to do with it than the present split in the Republican party has to do with the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey. The so-called Cleveland panic begun in Europe when Harrison was President. The failure of Barring Brothers in London spread financial disaster throughout Europe. All countries depending upon Europe commercially and financially felt the blast. There was famine in India and China, and the markets of Europe manufacturers became paralyzed. Foreign cotton mills were crippled, demand for cotton was at a minimum, and the price of cotton under Harrison's administration slumped to the lowest ebb in the history of the staple. Harrison, Republican, had no more to do with it than Cleveland, Democrat, but unfortunately Cleveland succeeded to the Presidency at a time when the panic spread from Europe to America. The fact is, the price of cotton under one of Cleveland's administrations reached the highest ever known up to that time.

Cleveland inherited Harrison's panic just as President Taft inherited the so-called Roosevelt panic of 1907, when the country was plunged into the wrost panic it ever experienced, while the all-powerful Bull Moose was a helpless as a church mouse at a cat frolic. President Taft began his administration under the terrible adverse circumstances of the Roosevelt panic, out of which he had to guide the country. Every bank in this country had suspended payment at the height of the panic, many issued certificates promising to pay and they passed current for money while a Roosevelt treasury was powerless to reach out a helping hand. During the Roosevelt panic, more banks went to the wall than during any other panic in the history of the United States. The furnaces of the cotton mills were cold and the smoke stacks were grim. Following such a distressful period, William Howard Taft became President and the burden fell upon him to bring order out of chaos.

Luckily for the South, during the Roosevelt panic, while our cotton mills were silent those in Europe kept busy. They readily absorbed our too short crops of cotton, and it saved the day for the masses of the people in the South. Nevertheless in the cotton mill centres in this country there was want and misery, anr we have seen whole mill villages deserted while the operatives were working for the cotton growers at 50 cents a day. Taft's administration was in sore straits for two years, and now at the close of his administration a wave of prosperity seems to be coming over this country, while his boastful party has forsaken him to follow ravenously after the Bull Moose who dumped a full-sized panic in the lap of his old friend.

Conditions in Europe are now good, save the war in the Balkans which evidently will stiffen the price of food products in this country. That war already has caused a slump in American securities in the European markets, to be followed by severe disturbance in the American markets. It remains to be seen, however, what general effect it will have on the cotton market, though already it has taken many a dollar out of the pockets of our cotton growers at th efirst blush. With the loss on American securities, a decline in the price of cotton, and the increased price of food supplies, we will soon learn that when battles rage in Europe we are helping to foot the cost. Nevertheless, there was a bulge of 5 to 6 points in the New York cotton market on Thursday, owing to "a bullish report on Eastern belt conditions, reports of heavy rains in Texas, light frosts in North Carolina and Memphis advices indicating a more active spot demand."

We farmers have caught on to what makes prices, and we have gumption enough to know that the boll weevil, rain in Texas, frost in North Carolina, and the blast of droughts cut more ice in cotton prices than any Republican President and his special privilege party that makes prices good for manufactures and trusts by taking tribute out of the pockets of the people, most of whom are farmers.

The farmers are aware of the toll they pay on account of the Republicanism that is decadent and soon to be interred in a grave dug with the protected spades of the Steel Trust. They also are afraid of Roosevelt's new way of exacting that toll by a commission to look after trusts and help them to fix prices or concur in the prices fixed by illegal combinations which are exploiting the people and will continue to exploit them if Wilson and a Democratic Congress is not elected. Be not deceived.

THE SETTLE CANDIDACY.

The Hon. Thomas Settle, of Asheville, Taft Republican for Governor, spoke in Wilmington on Thursday night to a good audience. Mr. Settle is a suave gentleman and a good talker. Even Democrats enjoyed his speech and appreciated his oratory and harmless political sallies at the expense of the Democracy. Mr. Settle is a good talker and it would be both untrue and uncomplimentary to say that he did not make a good impression. His Democratic friends listened to him and helped to applaud him. They will vote against him and continue to like him.

A few old-line Republicans heard his speech and it did them good, for his speech was aimed at the Democratic party. He never attacked the Progressives, for he expects some of them to vote for him. If he were to get every vote in his audience it would do him no good, but he won't. We believe he made a few votes, but they are likely to change their minds when they hear a Democratic speaker expose Republicanism.

Mr. Eettle is clever and plausible, but he knows he represents an impossible cause. His party in the Nation offers nothing to the people. His party in the Nation is the reason why two-thirds of the Republicans in the State will not support it. There is no earthly reason why a Democrat should change over to a party that will be beaten in both the State and the Nation. It represents an utterly impossible and unjustifiable cause.

The Republican party in North Carolina offers the people nothing but local option disguised as local self government. A vote for him on either local self-government or local option would be thrown away. He could not hope to win, for he represents only the skeleton of a party. He stands as the nominee of a divided minority party that is in bad against itself. He represents probably the smaller faction of the minority party in North Carolina.

The principle issue in this campaign is to down the type of Republicanism for which Mr. Settle stands. That is an issue way above local self-government or local option by anything like such a Republican party as exists in North Carolina. Were any voter to desire local option he would never get it by voting for Mr. Settle. He would throw away his vote, and endanger future consideration of that question for the reason that he has made it a political question. Local option Democrats would vote against local option if they had to risk Republicanism to get it.

Local option is a moral and not a political question, and the people are glad it is out of politics. Mr. Settle cannot drag it in, because he has neither the power nor the following. Who wants to throw away a vote on the minority of the minority? Local option may cut some swath in the future but not in this election. Men who honestly favor local option would endanger the cause by making it an issue between the parties either now or in the future.

There is no use to throw away a local option vote when all are needed to overwhelm the party of special privilege and corruption of the American electorate. Republicanism in neither Nation nor State represents a thing that should cause a vote to be wasted upon it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that abuse of him incited the attempt upon his life. As a matter of fact, Mr. Roosevelt has been going up and down and across the country at forty miles an hour denouncing eminently respectable people as thieves, liars and traitors. Dear Will (Taft) was once second only to Dear Theodore, but alas, now only a "Rat in a Corner." Mr. Roosevelt is a stranger to consistency either in words or deeds. "I am that I am" is his creed, but what is that pray?—Greensboro Record.

The "high cost of living" is a made-to-order affair. The criminal conspiracies must be broken up before there can be relief. The cost of protection to American consumers through increased prices is at least $2,750,000,000 annually. The Republicans are the cause of this and should be driven from control in this country. "Since 1896 prices have risen 60 per cent, while money wages have been about twenty per cent," says Byron W. Holt. "Prices climb faster than we can push our earnings up," says Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Voter, heed the lesson.—Raleigh News and Observer.

You ask, why is Governcr Kitchin losing strength. We answer, because his campaign is being exposed and the people resent trickery. We have heard of farmers living in this county who cheered the Governor on the occasion of his recent visit to Laurinburg, when he criticised Mr. Simmons for his wicked (?) voting, referring them to a certain page in the Congressional Record for proof of his statement. (He failed to tell them what the votes were for). They took the trouble to investigate and behold they found the Governor had tricked them into cheering him for criticising the Senator because he voted to place bagging and ties on the free list, the very thing the farmers of the South have been working for since the days of the Alliance, and before that time.—Laurinburg Exchange.

The New York Globe, which ought to know better, also joins the ranks of the sorehead politicians and foolish partisians who are trying to find some one "higher up" upon whom to lay the blame for the shooting of Mr. Roosevelt. It makes the absurd statement that "no man in the history of American politics has ever been as abused as Roosevelt," and pointedly declares that it was this "vituperative campaign" against him, "carried on with increasing virulence for a decade," which "produced fruit after its kind" at Milwaukee. The Globe only succeeds in displaying its ignorance of the history of its country, and, when it undertakes to hold all of Mr. Roosevelt's critics responsible for the act of a lunatic, its lack of a sense of the fitness of things as well. There has never been a man of prominence in the public life of the Republic who escaped criticism or slander, not even Washington; and it would be well, further, for The Globe and those who share the view it has expressed to bear in mind that the sole capacity in which Mr. Roosevelt was appearing in Milwaukee when he was assaulted was that of a critic. He had gone there to denounce the man whom he himself put into the Presidency, to assail him as a betrayer of his trust and a receiver of stolen goods. We have altogether too much violent speech in this country, and too often are ill-considered charges preferred against public men, but it does not lie in the mouths of the supporters of Mr. Roosevelt to seek to martyrize him in the manner attempted by The Globe.—Charleston News and Courier.

KEEP HISTORY STRAIGHT

White Supremacy Issue and How It Was Drawn In 1897

In these days of assertion of the various public speakers and candidates in North Carolina of their recollection as to the White Supremacy campaign in North Carolina in 1898, there have been many errors committed. It was said in one statement that one of the candidates for Senator was urging fusion at the convention in June, 1898. It is said by others that the White Supremacy campaign was not the outgrowth of the platform adopted by that convention but it was initiated and organized after the convention. It is true that the campaign was organized after the convention, but it is not true that it was initiated after the convention. The White Supremacy campaign was born on November 30th, 1897, in the following resolution, which was drafted and introduced by H. L. Stevens, of Duplin county, and adopted and published in the "News and Observer" on December 1st, 1897, and all the Democratic State papers:

"That all white electors, who intend to vote with us in the next election and who desire the re-establishment of Anglo-Saxon supremacy and honest government in North Carolina, are cordially invited to participate in all our primaries and conventions."

This resolution, we are informed, was offered about 11 o'clock at night and passed between 2 and 3 o'clock A. M. the next morning, and when the State convention met in June, 1898, this resolution was adopted by the convention and incorporated in the North Carolina Democratic handbook for that year and upon it was based the White Supremacy campaign made that year and in which the State of North Carolina was redeemed from the Fusionists and Republicans.

Let's keep history straight!

DEMOCRAT.

CARD FROM MR. ROUNTREE.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 18, 1912.

Editor of The Star:—I dislike to obtrude upon public attention; but I confess that I was somewhat annoyed at the report of the bar meeting in your paper this morning. I see you state "Mr. Rountree paid his respects to the newspapers."

The reference, I suppose, was to a statement I made discussing the resolution, to the effect that we should be very careful of what we said about the courts; that, in my opinion, one of the chief causes of the unrest and lawlessness prevalent in the country today was the muck-raking articles of such men as Connolly and Sullivan. I went on to say that, in my opinion, however, the letter of Judge Carter, by innuendo, seemed to charge Mr. McEachern with being in sympathy with law-breakers, if not a law-breaker himself, and if that was untrue, it would be a libel; and that it was perfectly manifest that Judge Carter did not mean seriously to make such a charge, etc.

In addition to this, I went on to say that I observed that there were no newspaper men present, and I was pleased that none were there, because we wanted to discuss the question freely among ourselves, which shows, I think, that I expected the discussion to be treated as it was, as confidential among the members of the bar.

Every member of the meeting knows that while I disapproved of Judge Carter's article, that I spoke also in the highest terms of his work here and strongly condemned the unwarranted criticism of the courts which is becoming so common.

Yours truly,

GEO. ROUNTREE.

THAT TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Ten thousand dollars, does it sound too high?
The committee doesn't think so, I'll tell you why.
Because it's for "Wilson", not only that
It's helping elect a Democrat.
Wilson, you know, was a Wilmington boy
Now tell me why shouldn't it be a joy
To all join hands in this great event,
To make our "Woodrow" the next President.
Ten thousand dollars? Why really it's small,
When it's not up to a few, it's up to us all.
So come across liberally—don't be tight—
If you can't give much, give the Widow's mite.

HURT IN GAS EXPLOSION.

Sixteen Injured, One Fatally and Four Houses Wrecked.

Marshall, Texas, Oct. 18.—Sixteen persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, and four small business houses were wrecked here today as a result of an explosion of natural gas. A lighted match held near a grating communicating with a gas-filled cellar in one of the structures caused the explosion.

Six persons were taken from the ruins to the hospital, but one of whom, E. C. Standifer, a painter, is believed to be fatally hurt. The others escaped with slight wounds.

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food

Prof. Prescott, of the University of Michigan, explains why Royal Baking Powder adds healthful qualities to the food.

Testifying before the Pure Food Committee of Congress, the Professor stated that fruit acids were excellent articles of food and that of these cream of tartar, the acid of grapes, held rank with the highest both in itself and its effect in the process of leavening and baking. He regarded the results from cream of tartar baking powder as favorable to health. Scientists and hygienists are in accord with this opinion.

Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

PEACE PROTOCOL SIGNED

Long War Between Turkey and Italy Finally Ends

Ouchy, Switzerland, Oct. 15.—After months of diplomatic strife for better terms Turkey surrendered this evening and the Ottoman and Italian plenipotentiaries signed the protocol of a peace treaty, which ends the war between Italy and Turkey, and incidentally relieves the Ottoman Empire of a crushing handicap in the forthcoming struggle in the Balkans.

The precise terms will not be available until a definite treaty is signed at the end of the week, probably at Tausanne. Their tenor, however, is well-known. The treaty will provide for absolute supremacy of Italy in Lybia, free exercise of religious authority by the Khalif; Turkey to withdraw her regular troops from Lybia; Italy to pay an indemnity equivalent to Lybia's contributions to the Ottoman treasury; restitution of the captured islands to Turkey, with guarantees for the Christian peoples; no indemnity payable by either side toward the cost of war and re-establishment of former diplomatic and commercial relations.

During the past week there has been doubt as to whether the war which has lasted for more than a year would be brought to a peaceable close. A definite understanding was reached yesterday, when on the arrival of a special message from Constantinople, a consultation took place between delegates representing the two countries.

Italy declared war against Turkey on September 11th, 1911, and promptly invaded Tripoli. A blockade of the coast of Tripoli and Cyrencia was begun by the Italian fleet. Various coast towns were bombarded and in a naval battle many of the Turkish ships were crippled. Severe engagements have occurred between the Italian troops and the Turks and their Arab allies with large losses on both sides. The coast is now held by Italy, while the Turks and Arabs occupy the interior.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 14.—Joe Mandot, of New Orleans, was awarded the decision over Joe Sherman, of Baltimore, at the end of an eight round bout tonight. Sherman was badly punished.

BOY LOCATED IN SAVANNAH

Frank Mills, White Youth of This City, Charged With Forgery—Warrant Sent to Georgia City For His Arrest

Frank Mills, a 15-year-old boy who lives at No. 210 Chesnut street, this city and who has been wanted here for several days to answer a charge of forgery, has been located in Savannah, Ga., and Justice J. C. King, who issued the warrant on affidavit of a member of the firm of Peck & Holloway, telegraphed the chief of police of the Georgia city yesterday afternoon to hold the youth for the authorities here.

Milis and Hallie Watts, a youth about the same age, were arrested in Savannah Wednesday night by Special Officer Godbold, of the Atlantic Coast Line, having been found asleep in a refrigerator car. Wats says he is from Whiteville and a cousin of the Mills boy.

It is alleged that about a week or ten days ago Frank Mills passed three forged checks, one on Mr. J. W. Yates for about $50, one on Peck & Holloway for $18.35 and one on J. M. Solky & Co., for about $30. He is said to have purchased a suit of clothes from J. M. Solky & Co., giving a check in payment and receiving the difference between the purchase price and the check in cash. He left the city about a few days later and his whereabouts were not known until yesterday, although it had been reported at different times that he was in Raleigh and Greensboro. Chief of Police John J. Fowler yesterday sent to a number of cities and towns a description of the young man. Later in the day came the information that he was in Savannah or had been there.

It is said that the checks were singned "Mrs. E. G. Mills" and were given on a bank at Whiteville, where the family formerly resided. The checks were returned marked "no funds." It is claimed by J. M. Solky & Co., according to a statement made by the magistrate issuing the warrant, that Mrs. Mills said that she did not sign or authorize the signing of the checks and would not make good the amount the persons holding the checks are said to have lost. It is understood that the effort to locate the boy has been made at the request of J. M. Solky & Co., and Peck & Holloway, Mr. Yates not caring to push a criminal action against him.

The following from Thursday's Savannah Morning News relative to the arrest of the boys, when found asleep in the refrigerator car, will be of interest:

"Hallie Wats, the youngest member of the Ananias Club, and exceptionally well versed in its rules and regulations, who duped the police, the newspapers and the Salvation Army a month ago by a tale of hardship and misfortune until he obtained aid, appeared in Savannah yesterday morning for the second time and with an entirely different, although plausible, tale to tell.

"The second appearance of the youthful confidence operator was brought about by Special Agent Godbold, who found Wats and another youth of about the same age, 15 years, asleep in a refrigerator car in the Atlantic Coast Line yards. The companion gave his name as Frank Mills and stated that he had come from Wilmington.

"Young Wats, or Watkins, as he now insists that his name is, said that after he was aided by the police, the Morning News and the Salvation Army to get work on September 15th ,the date of his last visit to Savannah, he left his job behind him for other fields.

"The first place he visited, he said, was Brunswick. He secured work in a drug store there, he claims, and worked for two weeks. His work was too laborious and he left it for an easier field, choosing Waycross as his next stopping place.

"At Waycross he found odd jobs to do about town, and a few days ago, if his tale and that of the Mills boy is true, he was joined by Mills, who is supposedly a cousin of the Wats boy.

"Mills says that his reason for leaving home was cruel treatment by his mother. He further claims that he informed his mother of his intention to leave before he departed and that his railroad fare was paid out of money he had saved working during the Summer. In all it amounted to about $17.

"When the two youthful wanderers came together in Waycross they found it impossible, they say, to find work which would keep them from starving. Wats is said to have told of his experience in Savannah, and persuaded the Mills boy to come here to find work. Mills said that he would not have come to this city had it not been for Wats.

"Both boys claimed to have saved enough money to pay their fare to this city, but to have had only a small sum left over when they arrived here Tuesday. Tuesday they spent in looking for employment, they state, failing to secure anything which suited their aesthetic tastes. When night came they were confronted by the problem of finding a place to sleep. Wats says they obtained permission to sleep in the car where they were found. At all events they made entrance through the ice box doors, and were comfortably snoozing when disturbed by Special Agent Godbold.

"Choosing to repudiate the story he told on Sept. 15th, when he first visited Savannah, to the effect that he was an orphan, homeless, without a relative, other than a married sister, in Portsmouth, S. C., Wats said last night that he has a mother, a father and four sisters living in Whiteville, N. C.

"'I know I lied when I was here before,' said the boy, 'but I didn't want to go back home then. I do now. I'm telling the truth, and if anybody doesn't believe me they can telegraph to my folks at Whiteville and find out that I am telling the truth.'

"Chief Detective J. J. Murphy, who heard young Wats' story when he was here in September, interested himself in the boys' case yesterday and informed the Associated Charities of the circumstances.

"Acting on information, spurious or otherwise, furnished her by the two boys, Miss O'Mara, acting head of the Associated Charities, wired to both Whiteville and Wilmington, in regard to what disposition should be made of the wandering youths. Miss O'Mara said at night that she had heard nothing from the parents of the boys, but that if they desired it, the Associated Charities would see to it that they were returned.

"Mills insists that he cannot be compelled to return home and that he has no wish to. He averred also that he was going to leave Wats alone after he was relieved from custody.

"'I told him last night,' said Mills, alluding to his companion, 'that I was going to cut loose from him when we get out. He's my cousin and all that, but he's too liable to get me into trouble. When I leave here I'm going one way and I'm going to see that he goes another.'

"'Say can't you get me a job, though,' he eagerly asked the reporter, remembering, evidently, the first experience Wats had in Savannah when he was aided from all sides. 'I want to work and make some money. My folks don't want me to come home and I don't want to go. Fix 'er up, what do you say?'

"The police are of the opinion that the Mills boy is telling the truth. Wats, or Watkins, they assert is undoubtedly an untruthful boy, although probably not dishonest. It has been cided to hold the couple until some action is taken by the Associated Charities, either to send the boys home or give them work. If no success accompanies the efforts of the charitable organization, the police will endeavor to find them work.

"When Wats, alias Watkins, was in Savannah in September, he said that he had been working in Florence, S. C., for a milkman previous to coming to this city. Before that time he had been employed in a shirt factory at Portsmouth, where he made his home with his sister. His parents, he asserted, died when he was ten years old. Work of any sort was what he wanted at that time, and his appearance and talk, which would do credit to the most accomplished 'con' man, made an impression.

"Wats' story was given in the Morning News. The result was that the next day, Sunday, Capt. Thompson, head of the Salvation Army in Savannah, was besieged with calls, verbal and telephonic, regarding the homeless orphan. Within a few hours after the appearance in the Morning News of the story of his hardships he was provided with a home.

"A few days later he left the family and the work which had been solicited for him by his protectors, and he says, returned to the Salvation Army Hall on Liberty street. He remained there but one night, he claims, when he went to Brunswick, and thence to Waycross."

MR. ISAAC JENRETTE NAMED

Selected by Executive Committee as Republican Candidate for House in Brunswick County—Chamber of Commerce.

Following the refusal of Mr. D. R. Walker to accept the nomination of the Republican party as candidate for the House of Representatives in Brunswick county, the Republican County Executive Committee met at Southport Tuesday and named Mr. Isaac Jenrette to make the race. Mr. Jenrette, who is a brother of the present Register of Deeds of Brunswick county, accepted the nomination. His opponent for the office is Hon. Geo. H. Bellamy, who was nominated by the Democratic county convention some weeks ago.

In a card in this week's issue of the Southport News, Mr. Jenrette sets forth his platform, which will be of interest to the readers of The Star:

"To the Southport News:

"Having been nominated Representative for Brunswick county and entering into the political arena at this late hour, I think it proper to state through the public print some of the things for which I will stand and which I will oppose in order that the people may cast their votes intelligently upon these questions.

"1. I will oppose the purchase of the Brunswick Bridge & Ferry Co., property and operating it as a free ferry.

"2. I will oppose the stock law for Brunswick county.

"3. I will oppose the transfer or annexation of Northwest township to any other county.

"4. I will oppose any change or tampering with the pilotage laws on the Cape Fear river and the bar.

"5. I will favor better roads and bridges for Brunswick county.

"6. I will favor better appropriations to the public schools and also free text books to the public school children by the State.

"7. I will favor any progressive movement to develop the resources of the county and to induce capital to seek investments for development of Brunswick county resources.

"ISAAC JENRETTE."

"Oct. 16, 1912."

The Southport Chamber of Commerce has disbanded on account of lack of interest among its members. The Southport News has the following to say relative to the disbanding of the organization:

"After years of services, resulting in many good things for the citizens of Southport, the Chamber of Commerce was disbanded by a mere quorum on Thursday evening of last week.

"This action was made necessary by the lack of interest, failure to attend meetings and failure to pay the nominal dues of 25 cents per month by nearly 90 per cent. of the organization.

"The work which had to be done and the responsibility of the proper handling of the many questions which came before the body devolved upon the officers and a mere handful of members.

"A week ago last Monday a special meeting of the Chamber was asked for by Col. H. K. White to consider some important matters to benefit Southport; only Secretary O'Hagan and Col. White appeared. The next day Col. White sent in his resignation, as was proper. Is this Progressive Southport?"

BACK FROM ATLANTA.

Col. Walker Taylor Returns from Meeting of Insurance Men.

Col. Walker Taylor, the well known insurance man, has returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the annual convention of the National Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents, which convened there Tuesday morning and continued in session through Wednesday. Col. Taylor says that it was the largest attended and most important convention ever held by the association. He is one of the directors of the organization and also had a prominent part on the programme, among the topics discussed by him being "Sole Agencies and Underwriters' Agencies."

The association represents 5,000 agents and extends to all States. It is the organization of the local fire insurance agents of the United States and whatever it does affects each individual agent. Everywhere, among the fire insurance companies, the convention in Atlanta was of personal interest. The delegates, who came from every State in the Union, were loud in their praise of the far-famed Southern hospitality. All of the visitors were most favorably impressed with Atlanta, which is one of the most progressive cities of the South. The next meeting of the association will be held at Minneapolis, Minn.

CAPE FEAR WORK IS RESUMED

Secretary of War Orders That Government Operations on River Proceed Without Further Delay—Ruling.

Following intercessions of United States Senator Simmons with the Treasury Department at Washington, in this behalf, Maj. H. W. Stickle, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, in charge of this district, yesterday received instructions to proceed with the work on the Cape Fear river without further delay.

This will be most gratifying intelligence, not only to the shipping and maritime interests of Wilmington, but to the people of the city and State generally, as the recent cessation of operations on the river by the government was a practial suspension of the project for a 30-foot channel from Wilmington to the sea, making this a gateway port for North Carolina. It was also vitally interesting to a large number of workingmen who, since the recent suspension, have been out of employment with a threatened disorganization of the forces which have been continuously at work for several years and which have now reached a maximum of efficiency.

It will be recalled that about ten days ago an order came from the Department at Washington suspending all work on the lower Cape Fear until a ruling could be had as to whether or not the appropriation for continuing the project was contingent upon the establishment here of municipally owned terminals, although the committee from the Chamber of Commerce, which visited Washington during the session of Congress was assured that the public terminals built by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line had more than met all requirements with respect to the port's ability to take care of any added tonnage that might result from the government's improvement of the channel.

The suspension of operations and the actual transfer of the large suction dredge Cape Fear to a distant port gave serious concern to all who had acquainted themselves with the situation, as it was recalled how rapidly the channel deteriorated upon a former occasion when there was a brief suspension of the work of the dredges.

The matter was at once taken up by Mr. M. J. Corbett, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who held several conferences with Mr. James Sprunt, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Navigation and Pilotage, and who kept constantly in touch with Maj. Stickle in charge of the local project. It was seen that something should be done and done speedily, else irreparable damage might result to the maritime interests of the port. President Corbett at once got in communication with United States Senator F. M. Simmons, at Rocky Mount, N. C., and Mr. Simmons at once took the matter up with the Treasury Department at Washington. Being actively engaged in his first speeches of the campaign, Mr. Simmons could not cancel his appointments already made, but he immediately dispatched Col. A. D. Watts, his private secretary, to Washington to follow the matter to a successful conclusion. On Thursday the following letter was received from the Judge Advoate General to whom the matter of the conditional appropriation had been referred for an opinion:

War Department, Office of the Judge Advocate General, Washington, October 14, 1912.

"Hon. F. M. Simmons, Raleigh, N. C.

"Dear Senator:—At the oral request of Mr. Watts, I have the honor to advise you that this office has submitted its report to the Secretary of War in the matter of the appropriation for improving Cape Fear river at and below Wilmington, under Act of Congress approved July 25, 1912 (Public—No. 241, p. 8). The opinion is to the effect that the appropriation was made without condition as to local contribution; but there has been no opportunity as yet for its consideration by the Secretary of War. Respectfully,

"E. H. CROWDER,

"Judge Advocate General."

Immediately following the submission of this opinion to the Secretary of War, the order came from that official for the resumption of work, which has already actually begun. This is a great triumph for the port and President Corbett, Mr. Sprunt and Senator Simmons are due the hearty thanks of the entire city and State for their splendid achievement, through the sympathy and co-operation of Maj. Stickle and other officials of the government.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

Meeting to Formally Nominate Marsden Bellamy, Esq., for Senate.

Pursuant to call issued by Mr. Geo. Harriss, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of New Hanover county, and Mr. Geo. H. Bellamy, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Brunswick county, the convention of the 10th Senatorial District, composed of the two counties named, will be held at the Court House in this city today at noon for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Senate. The convention is merely a matter of form as Marsden Bellamy, Esq., has already been nominated in the primaries in this county. The convention will ratify the action of the primary. All Democratic electors of New Hanover and Brunswick counties attending the convention are appointed as delegates.

Will Speak on the 28th.

Announcement has been made that the date of Hon. Francis D. Winston's address in Wilmington has been changed from the night of October 26th to the night of October 28th. The for-Lieutenant Governor will speak at Lexington, in the central part of the State, on the night of October 26th. He is a fine speaker and will doubtless be greeted by a large audience. He does not come in behalf of any particular candidate, but to preach the principles of the Democratic party. Mr. Winston is doing fine work in this campaign throughout the State, speaking nearly every day, and has been most enthusiastically greeted at every point.

The notice came yesterday to Mr. D. G. Vafiadi, the Royal Vice Consul for Greece for North and South Carolina. The telegram received by him read as follows:

TOURIST HOTEL PLANNED

Mr. W. B. Brice and Associates Undertake Big Development

Mr. W. B. Brice, a well-known business man of Wilmington and Wallace, has been spending several days in the city. Mr. Brice and 17 other business men, some of Wilmington and some of Wallace, have practically purchased the Godfrey Hart tract of land, known as the "Horseshoe," bordering on Greenfield Lake, and also the tract adjoining known as the Jumping Run property. The first named tract contains 73 acres and the last named about 265 acres, making a total of 338 acres. Options on the property were obtained by Mr. Brice and Mr. Z. J. Carter and these were filed for record Thursday, as stated in yesterday's Star. Mr. Brice said yesterday that a company is being formed and that it is the purpose to erect a modern tourist hotel on the "Horseshoe" tract of land and on the other tract to provide golf links, polo grounds, etc., for the tourists who will be guests at the hotel.

Plan to Rent Hall

Members of the Y. M. C. A., who feel the loss of the comradeship made possible in the parlors of the old Y. M. C. A. building, have begun a movement to form a temporary organization of the association to last until the new building is ready for occupancy. The plan is to rent a hall in which the members may gather for meetings, social intercourse, etc. It is very likely that the plan will meet with the approval of a large portion of the membership of the association. A meeting will be held in a short time looking to the formation of a temporary organization.

JEALOUSY CAUSED ASSAULT

Woman Slugged H. E. Pearce for Taking Another to Show

Kansas CSity, Mo., Oct. 18.—A woman's jealousy and not his testimony "in the lynamite cases" at Indianapolis caused the assault of Henry E. Pearce, hotel clerk, Tuesday night, according to Chief of Police Griffin. Pearce was found in an apparently unconscious condition and removed to the general hospital, where he told a rambling story of how he had been threatened with injury by mysterious persons because he had testified at Indianapolis. Chief Griffin said today:

"Pearce on Tuesday night had an engagement to take a respectable girl to a show. A woman who had the night previous paid for his supper, his room and his breakfast, objected, and when Pearce started to the girl's home in a taxicab, she insisted on riding to the house with him. The show over, Pearce took the girl home and it was after leaving her that he was slugged, if at all."

That the woman lay in wait for Pearce because she was jealous of her young rival is the belief of the police.

HOW TO GET FAT.

Use Samose, Says Druggist J. Hicks Bunting and Put on Good Flesh.

The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fat, increasing strength and restoring health.

Athletics, when carried to an extreme, often result in straining the vital organs. How much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Samose. This flesh forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the organs to assimilate the food and extract the flesh forming elements; it builds up the muscles and rounds out the limbs into shapely plumpness.

Samose has been so successful in making thin people fat and restoring the weak and run down to strength and health that the J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., the popular druggists, sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit.

..Theatrical..

The Academy of Music will make a big and merry offering today, when "The Winning Widow" recalled as last season's biggest musical comedy triumph in Wilmington, will return to delight the folks of this city. The jolly "Widow" will not only appear at one performance, but will be seen at two, which will add to the joy of the day. A special matinee will be given this afternoon, when a scale of popular prices will prevail, all seats downstairs being 75 cents, those in the balcony 50 cents and children 25 cents, anywhere in the theatre. Seats for both performances are now on sale at Plummer's and even the 25-cent tickets can be purchased there.

The company presenting "The Winning Widow" this year is larger and even better than the one of last and the production is a mammoth and brilliant one. The attraction has been showered with praise and from the Charlotte Observer comes the following:

LOVEY MARIE GREENE.

Big Production of "The Winning Widow." Academy, Matinee and Night Today.

"'The Winning Widow' came to Charlotte yesterday with an aggregation of trim and comely maidens who were not at all Quakeresque to say nothing of two comedians who were above par and several others who extracted a full measure of humor from the lines which fell to their lot and the roles assigned them. Consequently the widow, who is a dashing, sprightly creature, and her company had no difficulty in winning a considerable measure of approval. In some respects the production was considered superior to that of last year.

"A spicy show is 'The Winning Widow' and one which keeps its audiences on the qui vive. The work of its comedy artists convulsed persons never known to smile in a theatre before. As an exhibition of the human form divine, for which theatregoers have a designation in the vernacular, it is not likely to be surpassed during the current season. It might be termed a typical musical comedy of the less pretentious sort."

"Uncle Mun" at the Grand.

As a special compliment to the young folks, who will enjoy a day's surcease from their studies, and as an attraction for the grown-ups as well, the Grand Theatre management will offer for today Mr. Frank Nankivel's great comic supplement success, "Uncle Mun". This highly amusing and entertaining comedy is taken from the well known series as published in the New York Sunday Herald and which has been for months the great rage all over the country. Mr. Nankivel makes his first appearance on the screen in this picture in his famous characterization of "Uncle Mun" and it goes without saying that it will prove immensely popular. The trick photography and funny incidents in this film are worth going miles to see. The children simply can't resist seeing "Uncle Mun" at the Grand today.

The other feature film for today is a Vitagraph, "The Redskin Raiders". Thrilling and vividly portrayed this story, redolent of the plains, will prove one of the big Western features of the season at the Grand. In addition to these two there will be a third picture and all of them will be put on with special effects and full orchestral accompaniment.

Mr. Leonard Chick will have for today a comedy sensation of the semi-rag time variety. Its title is "Please Don't Take My Lovin' Man Away." It is the rage from coast to coast and is the production of that rag-time artist, Mr. Albert VonTilzer, who publishes nothing but hits. This song should not be missed.

Close of Big Bijou Week.

To climax a week of great artistic triumph and financial success, because the theatre has been packed daily, the Bijou will today present a giant sized and otherwise great bill, and the chief feature, the sensational star, it may well be added, will be a film dealing with the Turkish-Italian war. Turkey has been in the limelight for months, and yet is standing more glaringly forth today than ever, due to the war now raging between that country on one side, and the Balkan States and Greece on the other. For this reason particularly will today's costly and up-to-date film, taken by enterprising moving picture folks, who heed not expense nor work in securing views, will attract great attention. The scenes of battle will give a good idea of the strength and methods of warfare of the Turks. It is a modern education and should not be missed.

But this is only one star. There will be other big features at the popular Bijou, which will make the day the biggest in its history. So don't fail to be "in on" this swell week-end at the favorite amusement palace.

Lubin's masterpiece, "The Players", is also a star, and it deals with the fascinating theme of stage-life. The story is pretty, though intensely dramatic, and it is a novelty.

A superb Selig is also a star, showing the working of the Los Angeles fire department. This also furnishes education along with fine entertainment. Not only are scenes in the daily life of the firemen shown, but some thrilling battles with fierce flames.

There will be other delightful features today, which amusement-lovers cannot afford to miss.

Durham, N. C., Oct. 18.—An event of more than local interest took place here on last Saturday when Miss Mary Ruffin Green and Mr. George Henry Yow were quietly married. The affair was kept secret for several days, and the announcement of the marriage yesterday by Mrs. Lelia Green Davis, Miss Green's mother, came as a distinct surprise to the many friends of the popular young couple. Miss Green is well-known in society circles throughout the State, and enjoys a popularity second to none in the debutante society of the city. She is a petite, fascinating, attractive little blonde, and counts her friends by the score.

Mr. Yow was a student at Trinity College last year. He is an all round athlete, being the captain of his class track team, and is very popular among his friends, all of whom offer him hearty congratulations on his luck in securing such a prize as he has won. The young couple will make their home at Thorpe, W. Va., where Mr. Yow's people live.

Durham's new hotel, the Lochmoor, was thrown open last night to the public for the first time. The opening was very favorable 100 guests registering for the first night, so that several had to be sent to the Corcoran, which is run in conjunction with the new hostelry.

The Lochmoor is one of the handsomest and largest hotels in the State and fills a long recognized deficiency in Durham as a city. It is located just to the east of the union station and is in a most convenient place for the accommodation of the traveling public. New fixtures and furnishings have been put in throughout the building and everything is in the best possible condition for the comfort and convenience of guests.

David Clayton, a prominent farmer of Person county, almost succeeded in a rash attempt to end his life a few days ago. Taking his gun with him, he told his wife that he was going off hunting. Soon a gun shot was heard, but no attention was paid to it. Hours passed, and Mr. Clayton did not return home. His people became alarmed, and a search instituted, resulted in discovery of the missing man in the woods near his house with a rifle ball in his breast. Although the wound is not expected to prove fatal, it is very painful; but the doctors say that he will eventually recover. The cause given by Mr. Clayton for his act is ill health.

Services were held last night at the Second Baptist church in memory of the members who have died during the past year. Two former pastors of this church, Rev. W. C. Barrett and Rev. C. J. D. Parker, delivered eulogies on deceased members, who died during their respective pastorates. Especially beautiful solos were rendered by Miss Nina May Wilson and by Mr. Preston Epps.

The North Carolina Baptist State Convention of colored people met this morning at Mt. Vernon Baptist church in Haiti. The morning session was occupied by addresses and responses by some of the best colored speakers of the country. Delegates from all parts of the State are arriving on every train, and the colored people of the city are rising to the occasion of entertaining so many visitors. They expect great things from this convention.

Durham people turned out en masse last night to hear the Socialist speaker, Mr. H. F. Kendall. Our citizens were expecting to hear some blood and thunder, fire-eating harangue, and turned out from sheer curiosity. But their expectations were not realized. There was no waving of red flags, and indeed nothing sensational about the speech. It was a very tame affair. When the people saw that nothing sensational was forthcoming, the packed audience gradually thinned itself out, and by the time Mr. Kendall finished his speech he had many empty chairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke Bereaved.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Duke will have the sympathy of many friends in the death of their infant son, George L. Duke, which occurred at 11:55 o'clock last night at the family home, No. 513 Harnett street. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the residence.

Documents found when his house was searched are said to implicate Garcia Granados, minister of the interior under the De LaBarra regime and many others of high standing.

State's Witness In Grabow Riot Case Help Prisoners

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 18.—James W. Ross, State witness, today scored a point for the nine defendants on trial here charged with murder in connection with the Grabow labor riot. The witness testified that he accompanied the union timber workers to Bon Ami and Carson on the day of the battle and he heard A. T. Emerson, president of the union, say to two armed men who joined the party:

"Boys, leave your guns behind; we are going out to hold a peaceable meeting."

Court adjourned until tomorrow.

NOBLE SELF-SACRIFICE.

Newsboy Dies From Skin Grafting Operation That Saved a Life.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—"I guess I turned out to be some good after all," sighed Bill Rugh this morning, then he turned his face to the wall and died.

It was Rugh, who, a few days ago, submitted to the removal of a withered leg that material might be provided for a skin grafting operation that saved the life of a young woman he never had seen. Physicians said pneumonia was the cause of Rugh's death, but the ailment resulted directly from his self-sacrifice, having been due to irritation of the lungs by the ether that was given him when his leg was cut off.

Rugh had no relatives, and coming to Gary, a trap several years ago, had made his living selling newspapers on the streets.

The girl, Miss Ethel Smith, for whom he sacrificed his leg and later his life, had been horribly burned in a motorcycle accident. It is just two days since her recovery advanced sufficiently to permit her removal from the hospital, in which Rugh died. He will be buried at Rock Island, Ill., Monday. A public meeting has been called for next Monday night, at which plans will be made for raising money to erect a statue to the memory of the newsboy.

Mayor Thomas E. Knotts issued two proclamations today, one announcing a public funeral over the body of Rugh Sunday afternoon and the other calling the public meeting for Monday.

Miss Smith, who has not fully recovered from the effects of the burns and the operation, was not informed of Rugh's death until late today.

"I am so sorry," she sobbed. "He gave his life for me and I could do nothing for him."

ASKS NO QUARTER.

Gov. Johnson Characterizes Colonel as Greatest Fighter Ever.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"The greatest two-handed fighter the world has ever known," was the phrase of Governor Johnson in his characterization of Col. Roosevelt in his address in South Chicago tonight.

"Neither today nor yesterday, last week nor last month," said the Governor, "has he asked any quarter from either of the old parties, that are opposing him. It matters not what may have happened in the early days of this week, he does not ask quarter now.

"He upholds as just and right the contention of Mr. Bryan that that which has happened to him should not be allowed to stop or confuse this fight. He asks the Democrats and the Republicans to continue the campaign, but I ask you now to redouble your efforts that you may take on your own shoulders a little of the burden that he has borne so long."

COTTON ADVANCES $1 A BALE

Active Demand on Covering of Shorts Sent Prices Soaring and the Close Was at a Net Gain of 14 to 28 Points

New York, Oct. 18.—There was an advance of over $1 per bale in the cotton market today on an active demand from trade interests and covering of shorts, influenced by rumors that leading spot people had taken the bull side of the market, and apprehensions of cold weather over Sunday. The close was steady at a net gain of some 14 to 28 points for the day.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 2 points, near months being lower in response to disappointing cables, while later positions reflected nervousness over the weather outlook and covering of shorts. It soon developed that there were big buying orders in the market, in the hands of houses connected with one of the big exporting concerns and prices quickly began to work higher.

The official forecast for colder weather in the Western belt and frost in the Texas Panhandle increased apprehensions of killing temperatures in the belt over Sunday. The main factor, however, appeared to be the heavy buying from trade interests and reports from the South of a good spot demand from both domestic and foreign sources. Realizing checked the advance from time to time, but no important recessions occurred and the market reached the highest point of the day in the late trading in the face of bearish week-end figures. October, which had been relatively easy at the start, showed leading strength on the advance, selling up to 10.31, or 29 points net higher. Liverpool attributed an early advance to small offerings of actual and French buying, while an easier turn just before the local opening was ascribed to less satisfactory conditions in Manchester and fear of further European complications.

Spot closed steady. Middling uplands, 10.95; do. gulf, 11.20; sales, 2,700 bales.

Futures closed steady.

THE WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

Prices Have Reached New Low Ground Owing to Variety of Influences. Some Look for Big Rebound Sooner or Later.

New York, Oct. 18.—Prices have recently entered new low ground, owing to favorable weather over much of the belt, continued large receipts, the war in Southeastern Europe, the fear that larger powers may become involved in the struggle and finally heavy selling, partly against actual cotton by the South. Also spot houses have in some cases resumed selling. Wall Street houses and the West have also sold. To the great majority of people here the drift of prices has seemed to be inevitably downward, owing to the enormous receipts at Texas points, the increasing movement east of the Mississippi river, the tendency to increase crop estimates and the noticeable falling off in exports and spinners' takings as compared with those of last year. If there should be a spread of the war in Europe the effect, it is believed, will be to cause a very material decrease in the consumption of American cotton in Europe, especially as the cotton crops of Egypt, India and Russia are larger this year than they were in 1911.

The disturbed condition of the European bourses at times has added to the general depression. Southern farmers have ben reported as offering cotton freely. Spot markets as a rule have lacked snap. But for all that there are those who believe that the decline has gone too far and that sooner or later there will be a big rebound. They believe that the short interest has assumed enormous proportions. They believe that the market is sold out and oversold and that at the first sign of widespread killing frost, prices will move upward, stimulated not only by a big demand by over-crowded shorts on both sides of the Atlantic, but also by the excellent condition of the cotton goods trade, both at home and abroad. These observers declare their inability to understand why cotton should continue to be depressed with general trade in this country increasing by leaps and bounds.

Towards the close of the week, the fear of frost in Texas, the calmer feeling regarding the war in Southeastern Europe, the big spot sales in Liverpool (14,000 bales on Friday) and covering of shorts caused an advance in a market believed to be heavily short.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Business Activity Continues Despite War and Approaching Election.

New York, Oct. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Business activity in this country continues to advance unchecked by the political complications in Europe and the fears they have caused abroad.

Next to the assurance of unprecedented harvests, the most gratifying business development is that the great expansion in the iron and steel trade is proceeding without as yet any unwholesome development. The car shortage and the scarcity of labor, however, cause more embarrassment in some sections. Conservatism is shown in accepting future business. Most mill are booked ahead for practically six months on important products.

Purchasing of pig iron is on a heavy scale and the general price situation reflects further strength. Crude steel material remains in scant supply and quotations are very firm for virtually all finished descriptions.

Additional rail contracts include 90,000 tons of open hearth for one prominent system. Orders for fully 5,000 cars were awarded this week and nearly 18,000 more are pending.

Dry goods markets are steady, despite lower quotations for raw cotton and a tendency to move slowly until after the election. Repeat orders are frequent and for small lots, jobbers showing little disposition to allow their stocks to run as low as last year.

There is still considerable curtailment of output, due to a scarcity of labor and shorter hours. Mills engaged on knit goods and hosiery are being kept busy and running over time. Dress goods and men's wear in woolens and worsteds are in an exceptionally good position from a mercantile and manufacturing standpoint. Silk novelties are selling well. Silk ribbons have advanced.

The footwear markets are noticeably strong. The markets for hides continue very strong and prices are above all previously established quotations.

VISIBLE COTTON SUPPLY

Sec. Hester Shows World's Total to Be 3,765,915 Bales

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, issued today shows:

The total visible to be 3,765,915, against 3,387,147 last week and 3,133,853 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,960,915, against 2,596,147 last week and 2,608,853 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 805,000, against 71,000 last week and 525,000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and oriental Europe 1,904,000, against 1,612,000 last year; in Egypt 139,000, against 70,000; in India 375,000, against 274,000, and in the United States 1,348,000, against 1,199,000 last year.

Fortunes In Faces

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but it's never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. STOCKS DULL AND IRREGULAR

Revival of Unsettlement on Foreign Exchanges Contributed to Dullness—London's Level of Prices Declined.

New York, Oct. 18.—Dullness and irregularity were the dominating features of today's operations on the stock exchange. Revival of recent unsettlement on the foreign exchanges was a contributing factor.

There was no liquidation of our stocks abroad, but London's level of prices at the close showed a number of very material declines, especially in Canadian Pacific, the Coppers and American Smelting. The feature here at the opening was the heavy offerings of Amalgamated Copper. Early weakness was shown also by Union Pacific and a few other issues of speculative importance, but the market turned strong at midday on urgent buying of United States Steel, which scored its best price of the week. This movement impelled short covering in the general list, after which the market lapsed into extreme dullness, except for spasmodic advances in specialties, chiefly the tobaccos.

Manipulation was evident in some of the more obscure stocks, including fertilizers and equipments. Forecasts point to a moderate cash gain by local banks and a further contraction of loans is extremely probable.

Bonds moved uncertainly, with recessions in some of the more speculative issues. Total sales, par value aggregated $1,450,000. United States bonds unchanged on call. Total sales today 455,600 shares.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Close Barely Steady at Advance of 15 to 18 Points.

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 points down compared with yesterday's close. The close today was barely steady at a net advance of 15 to 18 points.

Cables were not up to expectations and shorts were inclined to offer cotton on war news from Europe. Bear aggressiveness was checked by an unfavorable weather map. Too much rain fel over night in the cotton belt and more was predicted, with every prospect for colder weather after the rains.

Around the middle of the morning heavy buying was in evidence and shorts rushed to cover. Bears charged the long side with manipulating the market and engineering a drive against the shorts. In the afternoon the market was quiet but steady.

that I was not at San Juan Hill. This may stagger him, but in a week he will discover that I was not shot at all and that anyway it was a bird shot and that it hit another man instead of me, and finally, that I was in Oshkosh that night."

Col. Roosevelt expected, he said, to bring the campaign to a close, just as though he had not been shot. He hoped to be able to put in a week of campaigning and "say a few things," although he might be unable to travel as he has been doing, making sometimes a dozen speeches in a day. His physicians told him probably he could leave for Oyster Bay on Monday or Tuesday and the colonel at once made up his mind he would go on the earliest train Monday, which would suit his purposes.

Despite his confidence that he will be back in the fight week after next, the colonel has not yet received assurances that he will be able to make a single speech. A week of absolute rest at Sagamore Hill comes first, and it will depend upon his progress then what comes next.

Col. Roosevelt spoke of the visit of Governor Hiram Johnson, his running mate, who spent a short time with him this afternoon. He said that there was little he could say about the conversation and that they had not talked much politics.

The effect of Col. Roosevelt's exertion was beginning to show itself.

At the outset of the talk he bore himself in a way which gave no indication of his condition. But finally he spoke in lower tones. At last he dropped his hands to his knees. It was his sign that his interview was over.

"Good bye," he said.

While Col. Roosevelt's physicians were careful to say that their patient was not yet out of danger, they were distinctly more optimistic tonight than at any previous time. The passage of the day brought to an end the period within which symptoms of blood poisoning were to be looked for.

Col. Roosevelt's condition was virtually unchanged throughout the day, with no indications of the development of sepis, the one thing most feared. There still remained the possibility of complications in the shape of tetanus, pneumonia or pleurisy, but with the danger of blood poisoning remote, it was felt the chances were greatly in favor of rapid recovery.

Col. Roosevelt's temperature fell late today to 98, three-fifths of a degree below normal. This was explained as being the result of his exertions during the day and natural under the circumstances.

Bedside Bulletins Discontinued.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Col. Roosevelt's condition was so satisfactory tonight that it was announced at 11 o'clock that the usual night bulletins of the physicians would not be issued.

Dr. W. B. McCauley paid a brief visit to the colonel and found that he was resting easily. The clinical record showed virtually no change.

The clinical record taken at 9:30 P. M., showed that Col. Roosevelt's temperature had risen slightly from the sub-normal point recorded in the physicians' bulletin issued at 6:45 P. M. The change was attributed to the fact that, after finishing his dinner Col. Roosevelt rested for a time. The record was: Pulse 82; temperature 98.2; respiration 18.

Schrank Asks About Roosevelt.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 18.—Col. Roosevelt's assailant, John Schrank, exhibited today for the first time an interest in Roosevelt's condition when J. Bailey, sentenced to 90 days, was brought into the tier of cells where Schrank is confined. Papers containing news of the attack have been kept from the prisoner and for that reason he did not know the condition of his victim.

"Is Roosevelt still alive," he asked Bailey, who answered in the affirmative. Schrank did not reply and walked back to his cell.

The prisoner spent a very quiet day in the small enclosure to which he is confined, saying he was "willing to take whatever is coming to him."

Schrank has made his will, it was learned today through a fellow prisoner. One of its provisions is that the missile which probably would have killed Col. Roosevelt, but for the double manuscript and metallic spectacle case, through which it passed, be given to any historical society and placed upon exhibition with the gun in the rotunda of the capital building in Albany.

Schrank, the deputy says, told one of his fellow prisoners that he desires the bullet and review to be a constant reminder to posterity of the "danger of attempting to violate the third term tradition."

COMITTEE IS CALLED

Democratic Executives Will Pass on Senatorial Primary Qualifications

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18. — State Chairman Chas. A. Webb, of the Democratic Executive Committee, issued a call today for a special meeting of the State and advisory committees to be held in Raleigh October 24th, to re-open the question of what shall constitute "Democratic ticket" as it shall apply to qualifications of Democratic voters to vote in the primary for United States Senator at the general election in November. An all-night session of the committee some weeks ago resulted in the adoption of a resolution that there be strict interpretation of "Democratic ticket" to mean voting the entire ticket, National, State, Congressional, county and township without any scratching. Chairman Webb has secured an agreement from all three of the Senatorial candidates and from a large number of the members of the committee for this to be modified. He does not announce just what modification is agreed to, but it is understood that the plan is to have requirement to vote the National, the Legislative and a majority of the remainder of the State ticket and vote for no candidate opposing any candidate scratched. There have been only three members of the committee to write to Chairman Webb opposing the proposed modification and insist on retaining the present strict construction.

TRIES TO TELL OF "FRAME UP"

ing to "frame Becker and turn him over to the district attorney."

They told Sullivan, according to his testimony, that they would "frame Becker, Waldo or the mayor," if necessary to save their own lives.

Sullivan became petulant when Justice Goff narrowed his testimony to contradictions of previous witnesses. Again and again he begged the court to "give me 10 minutes to explain this thing." Once he asked for a chance "not only for my sake, but for God's sake."

When John F. McIntyre, chief of Becker's counsel, turned him over to the State for cross examination, Sullivan became belligerent.

"Did you ever collect money from disorderly houses?" asked Mr. Moss.

"You might as well ask me," Sullivan retorted, "If I ever collected money from Standard Oil or Archbold."

District Attorney Whitman, Becker's prosecutor, virtually was forced on the stand as a witness for the defense immediately before Sullivan had testified. Mr. Whitman said he had made stipulations with Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, the State's chief witnesses against Becker, before they agreed to turn State's evidence. These stipulations were not disclosed, but Mr. Whitman, agreeing to produce them in court, swore that he had not promised the four immunity."

Former District Attorney Jerome, and Police Commissioner Waldo preceded Mr. Whitman, but Mr. Jerome was allowed to answer only one question.

Mr. Waldo testified that he and not Becker, had ordered a policeman stationed in Rosenthal's gambling place after Becker had raided it.

Lieutenant of Police Charles Becker's defense to the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, is that Rosenthal was murdered at the behest of other gamblers who hated him as a meddler and informer to the police.

John Hart, Becker's lawyer, in presenting his case to the jury, so declared today, adding that he would prove Becker "not only not guilty, but absolutely innocent."

"We will prove," Mr. Hart said, "that Webber, Rose, Vallon and Schepps conspired independently of Becker and with independent motives, to murder Rosenthal. After Rosenthal was murdered and they were rid of one of the two men they hated most in the world, they conspired to get rid of Becker, the other man, by false evidence and perjured testimony.

Mr. Hart added that the defendant had no connection with the gunmen and that Rose, Vallon and other alleged conspirators, had admitted Becker's innocence. As to Jack Rose, Mr. Hart declared the defense expected to prove he "had lied on the stand in almost every particular."

EXTEND INVESTIGATIONS

Government Agents After Additional Evidence Against "Dynamiters"

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 18.—Although the country previously had been traversed from one end to the other by government representatives in an endeavor to get witnesses and evidence in the "dynamite conspiracy" case now on trial here, that investigation was further extended today. Government agents reported that at the time James B. McNamara was in Seattle, another man known as "Petervitch," was in Seattle. "Petervitch," according to the man from whom he rented a room was some one other than McNamara, but he kept in his room clocks, fuses and other bomb attachments similar to those used by the dynamiter. He is being traced on a theory that he was one of McNamara's accomplices who was indicted in Los Angeles county, California, but who never has been found.

Word was sent to Seattle for a full story of the man who says he rented the room to "Petervitch" with a view of subpoenaeing him to testify at the trial here.

Miss Mary C. Dye, former stenographer for J. J. McNamara in the office of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Workers, was the chief witness at the trial today. She identified the stub of a check book, from which, it is charged, checks giving McNamara $1,000 a month to pay expenses of dynamiting were issued by the union's executive board. She identified one stub reading, "By order of the executive board, setting aside for organization purposes $1,000," as being a record of a check signed April 13th, 1910, by McNamara and Frank M. Ryan, president of the union. The witness also identified stationery of "George J. Clark, contractor," found in the iron workers' headquarters, which the prosecution asserts was used by J. J. McNamara and Herbert S. Hockin, now secretary-treasurer, in traveling around the country on dynamiting jobs under that name.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 16.—Demands of the striking street car men that "all men go back together" tonight blocked further efforts at mediation by the local committee named for that purpose. National President Mahon, who submitted the strikers' reply, asked for further time, and the committee fixed 11 o'clock tomorrow morning for their final hearing. The company is said to have agreed to increased wages and shorter working hours, effective November 1st.

Benecia, Cal., Oct. 18.—The main storehouse of the Benecia arsenel at the United States military reservation here was burned tonight with a loss estimated between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. The fire is believed to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

WILSON DISCUSSES TARIFF

to injure nobody in particular, but to administer justice to everybody, then special favors would be withdrawn and there will be another face upon affairs in America."

The Governor and his party reached Pittsburg at 5:15 o'clock and went to a banquet of the Wilson Club, of Allegheny county. A big rally at Duquesne Garden followed, after which the Governor left for New York.

Pittsburg, Oct. 18.—The position of the Democratic party on the tariff was discussed by Governor Wilson in his speech here tonight. He predicted that "the forces of reform will be dominant in both houses" in the next Congress and declared the election of a President out of sympathy with them would generate uneasiness and discontent. He said in part:

"I welcome the opportunity of stating what I believe to be the well-considered position of the Democratic party with regard to the tariff.

"The Democratic party does not propose free trade or anything approaching free trade. It proposes merely a reconsideration of the tariff schedules such as will adjust them to actual business conditions and interests of the country. Every observant business man must have realized long ago that tariff schedules were constructed in such a way that business was not upon a normal basis in the United States. They do not constitute a system of well-considered protection. On the contrary, they embody innumerable cunningly-devised, and carefully-concealed special favors and particular groups of capitalists and manufacturers have taken advantage of these special favors to build monopoly up in a way that is threatening and dangerous to every new and important enterprise.

"It is obvious that the country demands and will sooner or later obtain a thoroughly considered revision of the tariff and the serious practical question now is when and how shall it be brought about. It is practically out of the question that the Republicans should control the majority of the next House of Representatives; it is evident that those who stand pat on the tariff will not control the next Senate. The forces of reform will be dominant in both houses. To be held at standstill in such circumstances by a President entirely out of sympathy with Congress will be to generate greater and greater uneasiness, greater and greater restlessness, deeper and deeper discontent.

"In spite of all the obstacles of the existing tariff system and inelasitc currency, and uncertainties of politics, commercial and industrial interests of the country are moving forward in an irresistible stream. The argument is put forth therefore, to 'let well enough alone.'

"The argument would be very impressive if we really thought present conditions are well enough, we know they are not. They constantly involve the influences of monopoly of manipulation, of private control, and if they were well enough, it is not leaving them alone to elect Mr. Taft President, to hold a restless nation at a standstill for four years and exasperate the very forces which may now, if properly guided and wisely moderated, remove every obstacle to free enterprise and unlimited business expansion.

"There are more possibilities of panic ensuing upon abounding prosperity under the present system than there could be under any other and they dictate prudence; every instinct of statesmanship ought to point to those early reforms which can be accomplished in good temper by common counsel and in moderate form. We cannot stand still, least of all when the opportunity of unbounded prosperity beckons us on.

"To retain our present embarrassments would be to miss our chance."

Schrank a Quiet Man Without Family, Says Lodging House Keeper.

New York, Oct. 16.—So far as can be learned here, John Schrank, the would-be assassin of Theodore Roosevelt, is a man without a family. He lived quietly and alone in his $2 a week room near the Bowery, and when he slipped away nearly a month ago to follow the man he had decided to kill, he left no papers behind him to indicate his mission. To the proprietor of the roming house he said simply that he was going West to visit an uncle.

A few days later there came from him a postcard, bearing a South Carolina postmark. It bore no message, and nothing further was heard from the queer little man until news of his shooting Col. Roosevelt reached New York.

Albany, Ga., Oct. 14.—Robert Frazier, who says his home is at Columbus, O., was arrested here today charged with violating the Federal white slave law. With him was Ollie Patterson, aged 16, of Asheville, N. C. The girl claims Frazier induced her to leave a Nashville, Tenn., hotel where she was working on the promise of getting her a position in a vaudeville show. Since then she says they have visited various towns in South Carolina and Georgia. The couple was arrested on a train as they were leaving the city.

A Penny and a Five-Dollar Gold Piece

Bear a distinct family resemblance in size, if not in relation of quality. Consequently if the gold piece is kept in close association with pennies it is likely to share the fate of being taken for one, or rather GIVEN for one, as happened not long ago with a friend of ours.

The lady paid the milkman, as she thought, fifteen cents, but in reality handed him fourteen pennies and the little gold piece, not discovering her error until the following day.
